Nixon Answers Critics On Growing Issue Over Laos

FIRE GUTS FAIRFAX DUPLEX

Fairfax Fire Chief Charles F. Thornton searches for the cause of a $17,000 fire in an old wooden duplex, at 110 Wood Lane. According to the fire department, the fire started at 5:15 p.m. yesterday in the kitchen of the second-story apartment occupied by Jeffery Rabb, his wife, and small child. They were not at home when the fire erupted, the department said. Firemen said the residents of the first floor who were not identified, managed to move their personal possessions from the building, but the fire was contained before it reached their apartment. The owner of the building is Donald W. Stutzman of 229 Fairway Drive, Novato.

LOCAL BOARD LAGGARD?

State Water Watchdogs Take Over Pollution War

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—The State Water Resources Control Board, making unprecedented charges that its regional boards had failed to enforce pollution laws fast enough, yesterday moved to yank the jurisdiction of five of the nine boards, including the San Francisco regional board.

"Long delays in correcting water quality abuses will no longer be tolerated," said Gov. Ronald Reagan after the board acted.

The board action was triggered by complaining telegrams from the San Mateo chapter of the Sierra Club and from Thompson J. Hudson of Monterey.

The board singled out 13 polluters throughout the state for investigation, including the City and County of San Francisco, a major polluter of the bay, and set a special hearing March 14 in Oakland to review the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board's handling of enforcement under the state's new antipollution law.

The law, effective Jan 1, empowered regional boards to seek court action to stop all new construction and to levy a $6,000-a-day fine against polluters.

Board member Ronald B. Robie said that the state board's authority to intervene in regional board enforcement actions had never before been used, although it has had the power to do so for years.

Robie said he was troubled "not that no action is being taken, but by the delay in taking action" under the state's tough new law. "It's a matter of timing rather than wrong action," he said.

Robie, consultant to the Assembly Water Committee last year before his appointment to the state board, wrote the state's new law.

The state board's special Oakland hearing also will review the San Francisco board's enforcement against the cities of Belmont, San Carlos and Redwood City, the Milpitas Sanitary District, Berkeley Lagoon, C & H Sugar of Crockett, Hercules Inc. of Contra Costa County.

BCDC Swamped With Bay Plan Protests

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — Marin County's controversial "specific plan" for development of Richardson Bay ran into massive opposition yesterday from conservationists critical of its provisions for fill and 12-story high-rise buildngs.

A record 566 postcards, letters, and telegrams, from persons opposed to the plan's fill formula, had swamped the BCDC staff, executive director Joseph E. Bodovitz reported. The outpouring was greater than that recorded for any other matter before the commission in its four years, he said.

Of the 562, all but one objected that the formula, which would allow each property owner to fill up to 40 per cent of his existing open water, allowed too much fill.

The single remaining letter, from George Kappas, a major property owner in Richard son Bay, objected that the plan allowed too little fill.

Only a handful of opponents got in their licks yesterday before the hearing was continued to March 19 because of the late hour. Almost a score of hands shot up when the audience of more than 200 persons was asked how many wished to speak.

The plan, approved by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, 3-2, is an attempt to resolve long-standing disagreements between property owners and the county on how much development each will be allowed.

Commission chairman Melvin B. Lane of Menlo Park pointed out that if the BCDC approved the plan, it then may be obliged to approve any development that conformed to the plan.

The chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, John F. McInnis, told commissioners the plan was designed to allow property owners a "sound economic base" to eliminate "a dreadful eyesore" and maintain the Saucelito Canal.

Citing the split vote by the supervisors on the plan, McInnis said the two dissenters' only objection was to the provision for high-rise buildings. McInnis termed this "one small element that should be put in its proper context."

County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker argued the plan was needed as a tool for what he said was "a redevelopment area on water." Without the plan, he predicted, "nothing will happen."

Zucker acknowledged that the plan "leaves many problems unresolved, but we've gone as far as we can until you clarify us on it. Candidly, at times we have difficulty in interpreting your (BCDC) plan."

He insisted the county had "no intent of breaking down your plan."

But Mary Summers of Kentfield, speaking for the Marin

View eclipse indirectly

Marin Sun To Fight A Shadow

Weather permitting, Marin residents will be able to see a partial eclipse of the sun tomorrow morning, but the county optometric society warns that watching it with the naked eye could be blinding.

The eclipse will be total along a path extending through Florida, Georgia, the Carolinas and Virginia. About a third of the sun's diameter covered by the moon will be visible at 9:26 a.m. from Marin.

The eclipse will begin at 8:37 a.m. and end at 10:18 a.m.

Dr. Samuel J. Mann, president of the Marin County Optometric Society, said that looking at the sun for as little as 10 seconds can cause permanent eye damage.

He said the effect of invisible ultra-violet rays on the retina of the eye can be compared to using a magnifying lens to burn a hole in paper, and advised Marinites to remember what happened to the Apollo 12 television camera when it was accidently pointed at the sun.

Mann suggested viewing the eclipse indirectly.

Using two pieces of white cardboard, punch a pinhole in the center of one and focus the sun through the pinhole onto the second piece of cardboard.

Denies Buildup; Asks Help To Bring Peace

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP)—President Nixon made a detailed, 3,000-word defense of American involvement in Laos Friday and announced he is asking help from the Soviet Union and Britain to help restore peace in that country.

Nixon acknowledged that in recent days "there has been intense public speculation to the effect that tht United States involvement in Laos has substantially increased in violation of the Geneva accords, that American ground forces are engaged in combat in Laos and that our air activity has had the effect of escalating the conflict."

Describing these reports as "grossly inaccurate," Nixon stated, "I have concluded that our national interest will be served by putting the subject into perspective through a precise description of our current activites in Laos."

The chief executive said there are no American ground combat troops in Laos and "we have no plans for introducing ground combat forces into Laos."

He also stated that "no American stationed in Laos has ever been killed in ground combat operations."

Giving precise figures, Nixon said there were currently 1,040 Americans, both service personnel and civilians, in Laos but that only 616 of these are direct government employes.

"U.S. personnel in Laos during the past year has not increased," he said, "while during the past few months, North Vietnam has sent over 13,000 additional combat ground troops into Laos."

The President said U.S. air operations in that Southeast Asia country have as their first priority the interdiction of a continuing flow of North Vietnamese troops and supplies across the Ho Chi Minh Trail complex in Laos to join the fighting in South Vietnam. He reported that in 1969, this flow totaled about 10,000 men.

"In addition to air operations on the Ho Chi Minh Trail," he said, "we have continued to carry out reconnaissance flights in northern Laos and fly combat support missions for Laotian forces when requested to do so by the Royal Laotian government."

In each instance, he stated, "our combat air operations have been flown only when requested by the Laotian government."

He said that the level of U.S. operations in the air "has been increased only as the number of North Vietnamese in Laos and

Johnson Has Good Night; Pain Lessens

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) Former President Lyndon B. Johnson spent a "very good night," Army doctors reported today.

They advised there had been "no episode of severe pain" in the past 24 hours.

Brooke General Hospital's doctors said Johnson's premature contractions—extra heartbeats—"have been so rare," that the continuous electrocardiogram monitoring was discontinued Thursday.

They said his spirits are good today and his cold is "just a minor problem."

In a hospital bulletin, the doctors said they plan to allow the former chief executive "more limited activity today, depending on how he feels." They said this would include some walking around his hospital room.

Results of laboratory studies such as blood counts taken today were described as normal.

Doctors reported his general condition late Thursday was stable and said there had been "no medical developments which have given cause for additional concern."

Bolivia Reports Polio Epidemic, Asks Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Bolivian Embassy today confirmed reports of a polio epidemic in that country and said it had requested the United States to ship vaccines.

The State Department was expected to announce the shipping of some 45,000 vaccine doses to Bolivia later this afternoon.

Voting Rights Act Amendments Beaten

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate defeated, 58-19, Friday the first of a series of amendments by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., to soften the impact on the South of the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

Ervin's amendment would have changed the automatic coverage formula so that the law would not apply to states or counties in which 50 per cent or more of the voting age population was registered even if less than 50 per cent voted in the 1964 presidential election.

One Union Boycotts Rail Truce Discussion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Sheet Metal Workers Union, blocking settlement of the nationwide railroad dispute, refused today to come to a bargaining session called by the Nixon administration under a strike delay ordered by Congress.

J. W. O'Brien, vice president and chief negotiator for the union, said the Nixon administration's request to Congress for a forced labor settlement has ruined any chance that the administration can help reach a voluntary settlement.

Negotiators for three other AFL-CIO shop craft unions did attend the meeting, called by Asst. Secretary of Labor W. J. Usery.

Congress Wednesday turned down President Nixon's request to order a settlement in the 15-month-old wage and job jurisdiction dispute, and imposed instead a 37-day ban against any strike or industry lockout until April 11.

O'Brien said an impartial mediator should be called in to replace government officials in trying to resolve the dispute.

A government spokesman said some consideration has been given to calling in an outside mediator, but no action had yet been taken.

The 15-month-old dispute involves four AFL-CIO shopcraft unions whose 45,000 members repair and maintain railroad equipment.

The refusal of one union, Sheet Metal Workers, to accept a change in job jurisdiction rules has blocked settlement, including a proposed 68-cent hike in current wages of $3.60 per hour.

The Sheet Metal Workers fear the proposal to allow members of all four unions to do a limited amount of work in each other's traditional job jurisdictions for greater efficiency would eliminate many of their jobs.

Machinists, Eelectricians and Boilermakers unions have agreed to accept the settlement.

Patients Moved As Strike Looms

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The city of San Francisco today slowly moved patients out of its San Francisco General Hospital and Laguna Honda Home in anticipation of a strike Tuesday by nurses and nonprofessional employes.

Interns and residents at the hospital announced Thursday night they would support the strike by affording only skeletal emergency care.

The Health Department plans to discharge or shift to private institutions 400 of 600 patients at the hospital.

Rail Yards' Pickets Defy Court Order

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Southern Pacific Railroad workers kept marching in front of yards here and in nearby Roseville late Thursday night, although U.S. District Judge Philip Wilkins ordered their work stoppage to cease.

Marchers removed the word "strike" from their signs, but none of the 1,500 union members who had walked off the job went back to work. They called their action a "demonstration."

SP lawyers sought the injunction from Wilkins Thursday after the men walked out. The judge gave the unions until March 11 to answer his order, but he demanded immediate compliance.

Unions involved represent sheet metal workers, electricians, boilermakers and blacksmiths.

Workers in San Francisco observed the no-strike congressional order and commuter trains were on schedule.

Western Pacific and Santa Fe spokesmen said all their trains were also on schedule.

Mine Hierarchy Challenged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government, moving into the violence-marked affairs of the United Mine Workers, is seeking to throw out the election of union President W. A. "Tony" Boyle over his later murdered opponent, Joseph A. Yablonski.

"We'll fight it to the fullest," said the 65-year-old Boyle, who was having a tooth pulled when Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz announced the federal court suit on grounds of widespread voting violations.

Yablonski, his wife and daughter were found shot to death in their blood-spattered Clarksville, Pa., home some three weeks after Boyle announced his Dec. 9 election victory by a margin of 2-1.

Five persons, including a local union official, have been charged in the triple slayings.

Boyle is the second heir to the late Mine Workers President John L. Lewis who died last year after a 40-year reign over the union that sparked the nation's industrial union movement in coal, steel, auto and other major industry organizing battles in the turbulent 1930s and 1940s.

Lewis' battles until he retired in 1969 included many major run-ins with government and industry titans and other labor leaders. In more recent years, gunshots have sometime punctuated disputes in the remote coal country of Appalachia. During the campaign, Yablonski was felled by a karate chop to the neck, which he charged was done by a Boyle supporter.

Boyle, hand-picked by Lewis, has been president since the death in 1963 of Thomas Kennedy, Lewis' first choice of an heir.

Lewis, until his death at 89, ran the union's multimillion dollar welfare and retirement fund,

Blesses Romance

LONDON (AP) — Lord Harlech gave his blessing today to the romance between his 17-year-old daughter, Alice Ormsby-Gore, and English rock guitarist Eric Clapton, 25-year-old son of a bricklayer.

"I know she has gone to see him in New York, and if they want to get married it is entirely their own affair," the former British ambassador to the United States told a reporter.

"They are old friends and I know him very well. He has stayed with us on a number of occasions.

"We are going to see Alice and Eric when they get back to England at the weekend. If they decide to get married, then they will announce it."

Brandt Ban

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany disclosed today it has demanded that Chancellor Willy Brandt stay out of West Berlin if he comes to East Berlin to talk with Premier Willy Stoph.

The East German disclosure revealed the point over which preliminary talks for a Brandt-Stoph meeting are deadlocked and indicated that the suspension of those talks may be indefinite, unless the West Germans give in.

In an editorial signed by a central committee group in the Communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland, the East Germans said that Brandt had agreed to come to East Berlin by train from Bonn. But, the editoiral said, he wanted to go to West Berlin after his meeting with Stoph. Neues Deutschland called this West German demand "unacceptable."

To Texas Prison

SAFFORD, Ariz. (UPI)—David Harris, husband of folk singer Joan Baez, and three other inmates of a minimum security federal prison camp here have been transferred to a Texas prison which "will provide closer supervision."

Charles Benson, camp administrator, refused comment on whether the transfer were linked with a hunger strike which began at the Swift Trail camp last Monday.

Three of the men, including Harris, were serving terms for refusing induction into the armed services and the other was incarcerated for violation of probation and possession of marijuana, Benson said.

Flu Hits Burger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger was at the U.S. Naval Hospital at Bethesda today under treatment for what a Supreme Court spokesman called "a viral infection."

Burger, 63, was admitted late Thursday on the advice of his family physician who examined him at home and found flu symptoms and a temperature of 102 degrees.

New 'Dark Age'

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Dr. Fredrick D. Wilhelmsen, a noted social critic and philosphical writer, believes the present era is a "dark age" in which "tribes jockey with hostile tribes for power."

Speaking at the first annual Howard Memorial Philosophy Lecture at the University of Portland, Wilhelmsen said Thursday the modern centralized state is falling apart and the process of replacing it has begun. He said the old authority is being challenged by new groups—including the "woodstock tribe," student rebels and new religions.

The longtime contributor to the National Review said the electronic revolution in which television formed a new politics —telepolitcis—has helped create tribes. He said these were "the shaggy army of students springing together like mushrooms outside the conventional chain of command."

Wilhelmsen predicted the 1970s will be a decade without ideology in the classical sense of the word.

Viet Fighting Increase Hikes Red Casualties

SAIGON (AP) — Action picked up in various sectors of South Vietnam Thursday, and the allied commands reported 246 enemy soldiers and eight Americans killed. Forty Americans were reported wounded, and the Saigon government said its casualties were light.

Four of the U.S. dead were crewmen of a helicopter shot down 20 miles northeast of Song Be and a mile from the Cambodian border. It was the 3,427th U.S. helicopter reported lost in South Vietnam.

Ground action was reported in the Mekong Delta, below the Cambodian border north of Saigon and in the Que Son Valley area south of Da Nang.

South Vietnamese forces reported killing 98 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, 57 of them in continuing operations in the western Mekong Delta and farther south on the edge of the U Minh Forest. The government said another 31 of the enemy were captured.

The U.S. Command reported 11 enemy rocket and mortar shellings between 8 a.m. Thursday and 1 a.m. today, with one American killed and 10 wounded. South Vietnamese officials said the enemy gunners killed two Vietnamese and wounded 55.

U.S. B52 bombers dropped 1,200 tons of bombs on targets in South Vietnam, 900 tons southwest of the Ben Het Special Forces camp in the central highlands and 300 tons east of the Katum Special Forces Camp in War Zone C.

Acid Murderer Denied Parole

VACAVILLE (AP) - Parole has been denied for Dr. Geza de Kaplany, sentenced to life imprisonment in San Jose in 1963 for the acid bath slaying of his wife, Henja.

De Kaplany, 44, was denied parole Thursday by the California Adult Authority without comment. It was the first time he was considered for release. He can apply again in March 1973.

He pleaded guilty to slaying his wife of five weeks and has been diagnosed as a chronic paranoid schizophrenic.

De Kaplany, a Hungarian refugee, is a clerk to the Catholic chaplain at California Medical Facility here.

Accident Injuries

Val Hampton, 20, of 27 Ridge Road, Larkspur, was treated at Marin General Hospital at 1:10 a.m. today for bruises of the scalp suffered in an auto accident, the hospital reported. No details of the accident were available.

Murphy Tells View On Laos Troop Needs

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—U.S. Sen. George Murphy, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, says he "reluctantly" would vote to use American ground troops in Laos if President Nixon requested them.

The senator also believes 18-year-old should be allowed to vote —a contention which puts him in disagreement with fellow Republican Ronald Reagan.

VARIED TOPICS

Murphy talked about Laos, Vietnam, youth, politics and his health Thursday during news conferences in Los Angeles, Sacramento and San Francisco after formally becoming a candidate for reelection to a second term.

Asked whether he would support sending American fighting men into Laos, the senator replied:

"If the administration brought proof, evidence that it was in the best interest of the security of the United States ... that we needed ground troops, I would most certainly under those conditions vote for them, reluctantly."

But he said "there is no intention to create another Vietnam" in Laos.

Regarding Vietnam, Murphy said, "I think we can see the end in the not-too-distant future ... The progress of Vietnamization is going on schedule and in some areas is a little bit ahead of schedule."

TEEN VOTES

"I am inclined to think that most 18-year-olds should have the right to vote," he said. "I'm not nearly as pessimistic about the present generation as some of our citizens ... I don't think they're all destructive. I think we're coming into an era of real bright, forward, fresh-looking youths."

He said giving them the right to vote in presidential and senatorial elections "might be good for a start."

The senator said persistent speculation he would step aside and allow HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch to run as the Republican candidate has been a figment of eastern newsmen's imagination.

BAY

Conservation League, argued that the county's plan violated the BCDC's bay plan by allowing fill for uses that could just as well located on available land. The fil formula was "related to an existing ownership pattern rather than to public need." she said.

Mrs. Summers, noting the county plan was based on the Richardson Bay Master Plan she drafted when she was the county's planning director, disavowed her own plan which allowed fill, noting it was drawn before the threat of bay fill was appreciated. The plan was approved by the county in 1959.

She also objected to the plan's provision that each property owner may cover up to 67 per cent of his existing open water if he develops on pilings, and to provisions for extensive houseboat development. A houseboat, she said, "is a strictly private use allowing no general public use, and from this standpoint is contrary to the public good."

High-rise buildings "would be in conflict with this rather delicate inlet," Mrs. Summers declared.

She also argued that fill would impinge on the floodway from Mill Valley, and violate the public trust over underwater lands for navigation and fishing easements. This trust is being tested in court, and the issue should be decided before the plan is acted upon, she said.

Arguing for "some sort of public redevelopment project to effect an overall scheme" for Richardson Bay, Mrs. Summers insisted that "we can find no policy of yours which says we must pay for boat or ship channels by billing the bay for commercial purposes to create a tax base."

She said that rejection of the plan would be "enhancing the work of eternity."

Peter Bull, representing the Save San Francisco Bay Association, opposed the plan for failing to consider the north side of the narrow bay. He also said the plan was too vague for commissioners to know whether the BCDC plan's standards can be applied to it.

Former Marin supervisor Peter H. Behr, pointing out that he used to serve on the BCDC, told commissioners "you can't live with the precedent" of the fill formula in the plan. If approved, the precedent "will come back to haunt you the very next day," Behr predicted.

Chairman Lane, noting the backlog of speakers, closed yesterday's hearing with a prediction that it will take at least two more commission meetings to handle the plan.

The March 19 meeting will be at 2 p.m. in Room 1194 of the State Building, 455 Golden Gate Avenue.

Police Issue Warning On Possible Violence

Police today warned San Rafael merchants against possible violence that could spread through downtown tomorrow from a planned rally and demonstration against the Independent-Journal by students from all parts of the Bay Area.

Leaflets were distributed this week by Students for a Democratic Society on the campuses of University of California at Berkeley, San Francisco State College, San Francisco City College and College of Marin urging students to rally in support of San Francisco Typographical Union 21's strike against the I-J.

The scheduled rally to begin at 11 a.m. on the courthouse lawn in San Rafael, was also mentioned yesterday during an on-campus rally at Berkeley. Leaflets handed out in Berkeley by the SDS said car pools will be formed at 10 a.m. there for the trip, reported Lt. Henry Sanders of the Berkeley police department.

Sanders reported "an influx of people" in town in an apparent buildup for something. Chicago Seven defendant Tom Hayden is to speak at a rally at 7 p.m. today in Provo Park, Berkeley, and all Berkeley police have been ordreed to report for duty.

Police and other sources in Berkeley indicated there was no known link between tonight's rally and tomorrow's planned demonstration outside the I-J.

Student support for the typographers' strike has long been sought by union officials, and some students and "street people" joined the Feb. 14 union demonstration in which I-J windows were smashed and 17 persons injured in battles with police.

Leon Olson, president of Local 21, spoke to high school students in Mill Valley Jan. 31, saying "I wouldn't be surprised if there is violence, though not because the union wants it."

"A strike is like a war. . .the workers are going to get pretty damned mad, and when they get mad things can happen."

Students for a Democratic Society, which apparently is sponsoring tomorrow's demonstration, has attempted to link the typographers' strike with the Chicago 7 trial and the Santa Barbara riots. Speakers from Santa Barbara and the I-J strike are to speak today on the San Francisco State campus, according to leaflets.

and Humble Oil and Refining Co. of Benicia.

Robie, commenting later on the state board's action, said "some didn't realize how sharp the bites are" in the new law.

The chairman of the San Francisco board, William C. Weber of San Mateo, said he was "stunned" by the state board's action.

Robie said that the state board either could act on its own against polluters, or order regional boards to take action.

He noted that stopping new construction in San Francisco for the 10 years it may need to stop wet weather pollution, when rainwater overwhelms its sewage treatment plants, would be "perhaps too drastic." But applying the sanction against San Francisco for failure to solve its dry weather pollution may be in order, Robie said.

Polluters as well as regional boards will be summoned to the state board's special hearings, Robie said.

Also commenting on the state board's action was Assemblyman Carley V. Porter, D-Compton, chairman of the Assembly Water Committee and one of the authors of the state's new law.

"If the regional boards fail to act, or act ineffectively, I think the Legislature may well have to examine the propriety of their continued existence," he said.

In other business, the state board approved a $280,000 contract with the state Fish and Game Department to study long-range effects of pollution on San Francisco Bay.

The 18-month study will be to learn more about the toxic properties of municipal and industrial wastewaters and of biostimulant materials and how to control their growth.

It will run concurrently with a study to find out more about the bay's capacity to dilute pollution and wash it out to sea.

Flood Board Approves Budget

A 1970-1971 budget of $340,500, up $71,000, was approved last night by the advisory board of the Mill Valley Flood Control Zone and sent to the board of supervisors.

Charles E. Murphy, county flood control engineer, said the spending program will require a tax rate of 13 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, unchanged from the current year because of a reserve carryover of $252,000.

The budget breakdown $16,500, maintenance; $25,000, Coyote Creek dredging; $20,000 Marin Avenue Creek project; $85,000, contribtuion toward replacement of the Mill Valley Creek bridge on Camino Alto; $74,000, acquisition of Richardson Bay tide lots for a floodway; $100,000 Sutton Manor Creek improvements, and $20,000, reserves.

Feeder Bus Line To Inaugurate Weekend Tours

Weekend "minitours" of Belvedere and Tiburon will be inaugurated tomorrow by Marin Transit Systems Inc., operator of the bus service feeding Southern Marin riders of the Tiburon-San Francisco ferry.

The company's blue and gold buses will leave from the kikos opposite the ferry landing for the 20-minute rides, leaving five minutes after the arrival of the 11:20 a.m., 12:50 p.m. and 2:20 p.m. ferries. The fare will be 25 cents.

Company officials could not be reached to comment on the effect on their service of the threatened close of weekend ferry service. Harbor Carriers, owner of the ferry leased by the Golden Gate Bridge District for the service, has demanded that weekend service be terminated.

which has been criticized for keeping it's money in a union-owned bank without interest.

Yablonski, 59, was a long-time member of the union's hierarchy who admitted he had gone along for years with what he considered abuses until he challenged Boyle for the presidency.

In the wake of the government charges, Yablonski's running mate, Elmer Brown of Delbarton, W.Va., demanded he be named to replace Boyle as president. Brown had been defeated for vice president by George Titler.

Shultz said the Justice Department suit, after 230 federal agents conducted one of the most exhaustive labor law investigations on record, charged the union permitted campaigning at the polls, denied Yablonski poll watchers in some areas, refused some members the right to vote, didn't even conduct elections in some areas and spent union money on Boyle's campaign.

The government also charged the union failed to properly report many expenditures, including more than $5 million in loans to its districts, and sought to bar further such spending.

"Secretary Shultz, by his decision seeking a new election, disenfranchised 81,000 people who voted for Tony Boyle," said Mine Workers' General Counsel Edward L. Carey.

"The decision may have been made to embarrass President Nixon into an antiunion position by underlings at the Labor Department," Carey charged.

In reply to the charges, Carey said those involving nominating procedures were moot and that the others were of "no substance at all" or "miniscule."

He said in some areas, "They couldn't find poll watchers for Yablonski," and that where they did, "Poll watchers were allowed to stay through the voting and until the votes were counted."

He said some of the charges involving spending union money apparently stemmed from Boyle supporters handing out fountain pens.

Boyle has denied any connection between the union's bitterest election contest in some 40 years with the later Yablonski murders. The union offered a $50,000 reward for arrest and convictions in the case.

The five persons charged in the case in Cleveland, Ohio, include 61-year-old Silous Huddleston, president of a UMW local in LaFollette, Tenn.; his daughter, Annette Gilly, 29; her husband, Paul E. Gilly, 36; Claude E. Vealey, 26, and Aubran W. Martin, 21. The latter four are all from Cleveland.

the level of their aggression has increased."

Declaring that peace remains the highest priority of the administration, Nixon said he dispatched letters Friday to Soviet Premier Alexie Kosygin and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, who are cochairmen of the conference responsible for maintaining the 1962 Geneva accords on Laos.

"I hope that a genuine quest for peace in Indochina can now begin," he said.

"For Laos this will require the efforts of the Geneva Conference cochairmen and the signatory countries.

"But most of all it will require realism and reasonableness from Hanoi. For it is the North Vietnamese, not we, who have escalated the fighting. Today there are 67,000 North Vietnamese troops in this small country. There are no American troops there."

Sonoma's Private Pollution Plan Conflicts With Laws

SACRAMENTO (AP) — An Assembly committee was told Thursday that Napa, Sonoma and Solano counties don't have the legal right to form their own air pollution control districts but are trying to anyway.

The issue came before the Assembly Transportation Committee, during testimony on a bill by Assemblyman Peter Schabarum, R-Covina, to allow counties which aren't in regional air pollution districts to form their own districts.

Napa, Sonoma and Solano counties were excluded from the Schabarum bill, which was not acted on by the committee, because the three counties are within the boundaries of the San Francisco Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, although they do not belong to the district.

Assemblyman John F. Dunlap, D-Napa, said the legislative counsel told his office the counties can't form their own districts, even though they are not really within the Bay Area air basin, because both state and federal governments have assigned all nine Bay Area counties to one air basin.

"It's pretty obvious that a range of mountains ... effectively divides the counties into two air basins," Dunlap commented. "I agree that all areas of the state should be required to cooperate within air basins, but I also think we have to do something for counties divided between basins."

Two other bills are pending in the Assembly to force the three counties to join the Bay Area district, but officials of Solano and Napa counties say they are forming a two-county district, and Sonoma officials say they are forming a one-county district.

Pressure to force the counties into the Bay Area district has come from Contra Costa County residents complaining of agricultural and open dump burning to the north.

Complaining that the Schabarum bill would reinforce a policy they are trying to overturn, Solano County administrator David Balmer said the bill "denies to the three north bay counties a privilege which all other counties enjoy."

"We don't want to leave any impression we don't want to take care of air pollution," said Solano County Counsel Milton Goldinger. "We do. We just feel we can do a better job (than the Bay Area district)."

Bob Theiller, chairman of the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors, said his county wants the same controls as the Bay Area district, but that it can be done within the county for less money than the regional district would require.

D. J. Callaghan, administrator of the San Francisco-based district, said joining the district would cost Sonoma County $63,000 a year. He estimated the Napa rate at $27,000 and Solano at $45,000.

Redwood Tree Quote Denied By Reagan

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan insists he never said "if you've seen one Redwood you've seen them all."

Reagan was widely quoted as having uttered that statement during his first gubernatorial campaign in 1966. He's apparently about to embark on a second campaign, starting Tuesday.

At a Conservation Week banquet attended by some of the nation's leading ecologists Thursday night, Reagan drew laughter when he said:

"It is not true that in a campaign I ever said anything about, 'if you've seen one Redwood...'"

He told the conservationists to be "assured that the governor of California is not a Johnny come lately. I am dedicated to this cause. The magic of California must be preserved for our children and our children's children."

Another guest speaker was entertainer Henry Gibson, who observed:

"If I were a young man starting out today I'd give serious consideration to the garbage game."

President Nixon was accused by Thomas L. Kimball, executive director of the National Wildlife Federation, of placing protection of the environment "in the 13th sub-basement of fiscal priority."

Dr. Elvis J. Stahr, president of the National Audubon Society, said "it is now abundantly evident that the countless thousands of species on earth, not only the most complex, but the most dangerous, is the one called man."

Conservationists Urge Action Now Or Never

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Public support for conservation is at a floodtide and must be used well before it ebbs if the environment is to be saved, two of the nation's leading conservationists said Thursday.

Dr. Elvis Stahr, the president of the National Audubon Society, and Thomas L. Kimball, executive director of the National Wildlife Federation, addressed an audience of more than 800 persons, including Gov. and Mrs. Reagan, at a Conservation Week dinner in Sacramento's Senator Hotel.

"Schools and colleges, in the main, have done a demonstrably miserable job," said Stahr, "of educating about the fundamentals of man's relations to nature and about the incredibly complex yet magnificently systematic web of natural life forces and cycles—the balance of nature—which has been and remains the only source of life we know of."

Kimball praised President Nixon's recent 37-point program on the environment but said it can't be accomplished as long as it receives such a low priority for funds.

Kimball said the 1970's can be described as the "Do - or - Die Decade," and he echoed Stahr's concern that failure to make good use now of public support for conservation would lead to disillusionment and the loss of what may be the last opportunity to halt deterioration of Earth's life support systems.

Skelton Recovering From An Infection

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Comedian Red Skelton is reported much improved after a serious bronchial infection caused him to cancel a planned trip earlier this week to Washington, D.C.

His physician, Dr. Daniel Kaplan, said Thursday the 57-year-old television star was responding well to treatment and "should be up and around in a day or so."

North Campus Lease A Worry To Trustees

Marin Junior College District trustees last night expressed fears that leasing the North Campus site near Novato could lead to undesirable activities there.

There was even concern that leasing it for cattle ranching might lead to overgrazing, soil erosion and plant destruction.

Trustees agreed, since the intent is to have someone on the 333-acre site for security purposes, the staff should check the possibility of making some arrangement other than leasing.

Under discussion was a proposal to lease the site for a minimum of $150 a month, and limit use to cattle and horses, including riding stables.

Bus. Mgr. Norman Bird reported that the present tenant using 600 acres on the Pacheco Ranch, including the district land, trains and boards horses.

Trustees Donald K. Felt said: "This really scares me. . .a huge ranch up for lease. . .and you could end up with you know not what. This is a potential disaster."

Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy remarked that "it's a mighty attractive piece of land for lots of things." She suggested that there be a contract to provide security at the site, rahter than opening it to bidding.

Bird said there were two small houses, a large barn and several smaller sheds on the site, and "all improvements are substandard."

This led Trustee Charles W. Gray to comment that if this were so the district would be "slumlords" and shouldn't be in that position.

Bird proposed that the number of occupants on the site be limited to six, and the lease period be from April 1, 1970, to March 31, 1971, and on a month-to-month basis after that.

Construction on the site will not commence before April, 1971, he reported.

ADULT EDUCTION—Received a report that enrollment in the adult education program for the winter quarter totaled 1,852, a 46 per cent drop from the fall enrollment, attributed by Eugene A. Farrar, assistant dean of community education, to January floods, "the usual first-of-the-year slowdown,, and the lack of registration and class listing stories in the Independent-Journal.

GROUNDSMAN—Appointed Harvey L. Blackwood as a groundsman at a salary of $567 a month, effective March 6.

DEAN SELECTION—Discussed the proposed procedure for selecting a dean of instruction to succeed Paul Clymer, who will retire this summer.

I-J STRIKE—Heard a charge from William R. Cannon of San Rafael that fliers announcing a student demonstration at the Independent-Journal tomorrow were being paid for by College of Marin students, and that the students could better spend such money by contributing to financial aid fund at the college, which they have been supporting vocally at board sessions.

Goldberg Rips 'Chicago 7' Indictment

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg charged Thursday that the indictment of the "Chicago Seven" on conspiracy charges was unconstitutional.

"I regard the concept of indicting people for conspiracy to be one of the most dangerous concepts in American law," Goldberg said in a speech to students at the Columbia University Law School.

"Conspiracy is the last resort of a prosecutor who lacks evidence to convict on substantive charges. There is scarcely a person (connected with the 1968 Chicago riots) who could not be convicted of conspiracy under the law as it now stands."

None of the Chicago Seven was convicted of conspiracy, but five of them were found guilty of individual acts which helped to incite the riots which marred the Democratic National Convention in 1968.

Federal Judge Julius J. Hoffman also sentenced all seven and their attorneys to jail on charges of contempt of court.

Goldberg criticized the contempt sentences.

"When a defendant is called for contempt after the trial is concluded—and that means that whatever difficulties the judge had, he managed them — then that contempt must be tried by a different judge with all the safeguards including the right to trial by jury," he said.

"I believe strongly that what was done was not in keeping with the Constitution."

EUREKA — The 32nd annual Redwood Region Logging Conference to be held March 12-13 at the Redwood Acres Fair Grounds in Eureka, will concentrate on future timber management needs, according to conference president Larry McCollum.

McCollum of Scotia, Humboldt County, said 400 to 500 loggers and logging equipment dealers are expected to attend the conference which will include a logging equipment show.

Enrollment Drop, Financial Pinch Stall Sabbatical Vote

The Marin Junior College District, already financially strapped, faces a further loss of income resulting from a drop in enrollment this spring.

Supt.-President John A. Grasham gave the gloomy financial report to trustees last night as they were weighing, for the third time, granting sabbatical leaves.

After three votes, the leave question was unresolved, due for reconsideration after trustees have a clearer look at the proposed 1970-71 budget.

Grasham said the spring semester attendance was 14.9 per cent below fall attendance and income from the state based on attendance would be $100,000 less than expected.

It appears that the district won't be able to grant cost-of-living pay raises for 1970-71 and may not be able to pay all of the annual pay increments earned by instructors, he said.

Seven staff members, two counselors and five instructors, hired on one-ye ar contracts won't be retained, Grasham said.

Irwin P. Diamond, dean of students, said 4,828 students were enrolled this spring, compared to 5,382 last fall, and 5,289 in the spring of 1969.

He attributed the drop in enrollment to the new admission restrictions, registration priorities, changing draft laws and publicity indicating the college was at its capacity.

Despite the overall drop, there was an 18 per cent increase of full-time students, Diamond said. More than 1,000 students were academically disqualified after the fall semester, but about 250 have returned, he pointed out.

Grasham recommended granting sabbatical leaves, despite the financial pinch, explaining that the cost could be reduced to $12,000 by either not replacing those on leave or providing only part-time replacement.

Trustee Charles W. Gray, absent at two earlier tie votes on sabbaticals, said the main thing to consider was the quality of the sabbatical proposals.

The intent of a sabbatical is to "substantially enhance the teaching capability of the faculty," and none of the six before the board appeared to qualify, he contended.

Thomas Place, president of the Academic Senate, said the faculty had given sabbaticals high priority, is willing to do whatever it could to reduce the costs, and realizes that the funding may cut into annual pay increments.

Trustee Theodore Wellman felt that a decision should be deferred until "the latest possible date."

A motion by Gray to deny the sabbaticals lost by a 4-3 vote.

Trustee Harry J. Moore, Mrs. Deedy and Gray voted for denial, while Trustees Robert E. Oliver, Felt, Wellman and Robert E. Rogers voted against denial.

Then Oliver moved that sabbaticals be granted and the move was defeated by a 5-2 vote, with Felt and Oliver the only pro votes.

Finally, Wellman moved that the matter be set aside for reconsideration later and the move was passed by a 6-1 vote with Gray dissenting.

Until the work is finished the psychiatric and rehabilitation patients will share quarters and comingle in the cafeteria and socal rooms, he said.

INTIMIDATION RESULTS

Everyone wants to know what happened since the front page article in the February 27th Independent-Journal.

Well, surprisingly, a lot! Many phone calls, many letters, and a great deal of hand-shaking by friends and total strangers. Only two people disagreed with our position.

The general trend of comment was "we're with you", "don't give in", "it's about time somebody had the guts", etc.

The next question is, what can you wellwishers do? Well, you can exert influence on your union friends, your business associates, your neighbors, and the local Union Headquarters (any union).

Tell them what you have told me: That you are fed up with violent solutions to everyday problems and with union officials who say officially "We don't like violence either" while at the same time organizing the demonstrations out of which the violence arises.

If they don't like it, why don't they use their wonderful organization to stop it?

Also, you can demonstrate your support to some of the smaller merchants who have been literally terrorized by threats and damage to their stores. The sort of encouragement you gave to us will mean so much to them.

I wish to personally thank all of you who have called or written. Your support is needed in this local war of nerves.

Tiny Umbrella Fleet Snoops Bay Currents

MENLO PARK K(UPI)—In an effort to determine seasonal water circulation patterns, the U.S. Office of Marine Geology has dropped 2,200 plastic "seabad drifters" into San Francisco Bay and off the Northern California Coast.

Jack E. Schoellhamer, chief of the agency's regional office, said Thursday the drifters—which resemble a plastic umbrella with a yellow top seven inches in diameter and a red stem 21 inches long—should start showing up on shore within a few days.

The purpose of the experiment is to learn circulation patterns under the bay and offshore between Cape Mendocino and Big Sur. The circulations control sediment distribution as well as movement and eventual deposit of natural and man-made pollutants, Schoellhamer said.

The federal agency is offering a 50-cent reward to anyone who finds one of the objects and sends his address along with the drifter serial number and the exact time and location it was found to an address printed on the yellow disk.

Schoellhamer said the agency also would appreciate information on whether the drifter was complete or if the stem or a brass weight near the stern's end were missing.

Cotati School District Expands

I- JSpecial Report

SANTA ROSA—The Sonoma County Local Agency Formation Commission yesterday approved the annexation of the remainder of Rohnert Park into the Cotati School District.

The largely uninhabited north section of Rohnert Park had been included in the rural Bellevue School District. The Cotati trustees said that as the city grows, it should all be included in one elementary school district. No protest was entered.

The commission also approved the annexation of the Paula Lane water reservoir into the City of Petaluma. The annexation was limited to the one-third acre lake.

Library To Display Rasmussen Paintings

An exhibit of mystic paintings by Mill Valley artist Henry Rasmusen will open Monday at the Mill Valley Library gallery in Old Mill Park. It will be a one-man show for Rasmusen who has also won numerous awards, authored three books and who is included in such published listings as "Who's Who In American Art."

The exhibit, sponsored by the Mill Valley Art Commission will be open daily except Sundays between 2 and 4 p.m. and 7 and 9 p.m. through March 31.

Sonoma Sets Hearing On River Community

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA—A public hearing on plans for a multiphased planned community at Jenner was set yesterday for April 2 at 4:15 p.m. by the Sonoma County Planning Commission.

The plans by Russian Harbor Corp., a subsidiary of American Leisure Land Co., includes rezoning 1,100 acres from single family residential to a planned community district.

Located south of the Russian River at the ocean, the first unit of development would include 231 acres for residential, four acres for commercial and 78 acres for recreation and open space.

The second segment, known as Ocean Terrace would include 90 acres of residential development and a 150-acre golf course.

Another subsidiary, Northern California Aggregates Co., last week got approval from the board of zoning adjustments to dredge gravel from the river at the mouth at Jenner to five miles upstream. The permit was strongly opposed by conservationists who said the dredging would damage the river and coastal ecology.

An appeal of that decision will be set for public hearing on Monday by the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors.

The planning commission yesterday also heard a proposal from the bureau of sport fisheries and wildlife on a proposed wildlife national refuge at San Pablo Bay.

The commission approved the concept of the refuge for preserving wildlife and asked for more details on the plans including how it might be financed.

Small German Plane Crash Fatal To 12

SAMEDAN, Switzerland (AP) — A twin-engine West German plane carrying 12 passengers and crew crashed today coming in for a landing at this small Swiss Alpine airport. A police official at nearby St. Moritz said all occupants were killed.

Unofficial reports said flames were seen coming out of the turbo-prop air craft before it crashed into deep snow about a mile from the airport.

A helicopter and ambulances were rushed to the scene. Some reports said the pilot of the flane radioed shortly before the crash that he was unable to get his landing wheels down.

A spokesman of the St. Moritz tourist office said he understood the 12 aboard included two crew members and 10 passengers.

The plane belonged to the Bavaria G.M.B.H of Munich, police ria G.M.B.H. of Munich, police said. Samedan airport, located at an altitude of 5,600 feet, handles some tourist traffic and also frequentiy handles private planes of prominent visitors from abroad, including royalty and movie stars.

Mrs. Nixon Pays Visit To Campus

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Pat Nixon finally made it to a college campus on her five-day trip to salute students who volunteer for good works in their communities.

It was the unique School of the Ozarks in southern Missouri, where the 852 students work their way through school on campus jobs and the president, Dr. M. Graham Clark, says no organized protest group exists.

Mrs. Nixon went to the coed school Thursday at the wind-up of her five-state tour after she had skirted campuses everywhere else.

She heads back to the White House today, explaining that she will not join President Nixon in Florida because "I have things to do in Washington."

Four Named Rec Panel Candidates

Four youths were named last night by the Marin County Youth Commission as candidates for a post on the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission.

They are Raymond Bresnan of Novato, the incumbent; Amy Skewes-Cox of Ross, Kurt Furlong of Tomales, and Derrick Tracy of Ross.

Bresnan, a student at Novato High School, was appointed to the parks commission in August 1968 to fill the unexpired term of the late Gibbs Lawson. His term ran out in July of last year, but Bresnan continued on the post until the youth commission made its recommendations. The new term will run until July of 1971.

Marin County Board of Supervisors will make the selection from among the four named last night.

Chairman Mark W. Tracy announced that the next meeting of the youth commission will be held at 7:30 p.m. March 19 in the board of supervisors' chambers at Civic Center.

Suspect Hears Charges In San Rafael Killing

Merrill Brandon Fields, 41-year-old San Rafael businessman, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on charges of murder and felony assault stemming from a bloody melee in his apartment Wednesday night.

Fields, who owns a small company which does labeling for cosmetic firms, is accused of fatally shooting Julian Emmett Waters, 36-year-old San Rafael plumber. He is also charged with inflicting severe injuries on Nancy B. Gibson, 36, of Greenbrae.

MERRILL B. FIELDS
Charged with murder

SURGERY ON WOMAN

Mrs. Gibson was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital where she underwent surgery yesterday for facial cuts and an injured eye.

Fields, who was nude when police arrived at his apartment after a neighbor complained of noise, appeared in court yesterday wearing white jail coveralls but still barefoot. He accepted a complaint outlining the charges from Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales with shaking hands, and his attorney, Robert W. Corlett, asked for an early preliminary hearing. Judge Hadden W. Roth set the hearing for 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Before filing the charges against Fields, Bales said that events preceding the slaying "sounded like a sex episode."

Mrs. Gibson had been found lying on the floor of Field's apartment at 9 Warner Court with Waters' body on top of her. Both were nude from the waist down. Fields was crouched naked nearby, police said.

GOLD-PLATED PISTOL

The murder weapon is believed to be a gold-plated Derringer found near Fields. Waters had bullet wounds in his head and shoulder.

The trio apparently did not know each other previously but had met earlier in the evening at a San Rafael bar. Several hours of drinking apparently preceded the slaying, police believe, as broken and unbroken liquor bottles were found in the apartment.

Bales said yesterday that a psychiatrist had examined Fields and found him sane for trial. Fields is being held in jail without bail.

Tiburon Gains New Firemen

Four volunteers were accepted into the Tiburon Fire Department last night by the Tiburon Fire Protection District board, according to Fire Chief Franklin J. Buscher, bringing the department's paid and volunteer firemen to 45.

The four new men are: Gene G. Erickson, 3193 Paradise Drive; Gary J. Morgan, 19 Mercury Avenue; David J. Hanson, 246A Esperanza Street and W. B. Dickens, 10 Apollo Road.

The board also voted to hold a hearing April 10 on a proposed district ordinance which would require installation of smoke and fire detection systems in any new multi-family dwellings built in the district.

Sewer Union In Southern Marin Eyed

Representatives of 10 sewage treatment and collection agencies met last night to explore proposals to combine sanitary operations in Southern Marin.

No conclusion on the plans was reached, said Mill Valley City Councilman Jerome C. Hauke, spokesman for the meeting, but the representatives agreed to meet again at 8 p.m. April 2, tentatively in Tamalpais Valley School, to explore interest further.

Hauke said legal procedures for forming a combined sanitation district or an improvement district under the Marin Municipal Water District were explained to the group by John F. Barrows, staff officer for the Marin Local Agency Formation Commission.

Hauke said the April 8 meeting will determine whether the districts are genuinely interested in a new plan for Southern Marin sewage disposal, thus eliminating dumping of effluent into Richardson Bay, and which plan is favored.

Hauke reported that William R. Seeger, water district general manager, said he would advise his board to delay plans to form an improvement district until after the April 2 meeting.

Alto Firemen May Get State Pensions

The Alto-Richardson Bay Fire District board voted last night to look into the cost of providing a state retirement program for all employees in the district, according to Fire Chief Carl O. Heynen Jr. Heynen said most district employees favor a state plan.

Cotati Embarks On Future Development

The Cotati City Council last night embarked on a one-year study of the development of a general plan and housing element.

Planning consultant Herman Ruth of Berkeley urged the council and planning commission to form a citizens committee of 20 to 25 persons to begin studies on the master plan. He said the citizens committee would assist in identifying problems and making recommendations.

Covered by the study will be zoning, capital improvements needed, a subdivision ordinance and traffic pattern plan.

Ruth said that notification should be received by April 1 on the approval of a $24,600 grant from the California Inter-Council on Government Relations with funds from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Ruth said the total cost of the project should be $28,000 with the city and Sonoma County providing the remainder of the money.

The council approved a resolution calling for the study as a formality in applying for the federal funds.

The Cotati City Council also:

REFUND—Rejected the request of the Universal Life Church for a $50 refund from a dance held Feb. 20. The group said that two police officers were employed because 400 persons were expected, but that the money should be refunded because only 162 attended.

ENGINEER—Approved a salary increase for City Engineer Paul Schock from $100 per month to $150. The council said his services had been required more often than expected and the increase warranted.

DISPATCHER—Heard a report that the Cotati Telephone Answering Service will not answer police calls in the evenings and weekends after March 31. The council said it would seek an agreement with Rohnert Park to share a dispatcher.

MEETING—Adjourned to next regular meeting, March 19 at 7:30 p.m.

Al Hirt Tries Trumpet On Lip

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Trumpeter Al Hirt has tried out his damaged lip on a borrowed horn and says, "It wasn't bad."

Hirt had feared for his career after suffering a severe gash from an object thrown at him during a Mardi Gras parade last month.

He said Thursday the cut had "healed beautifully," but it left him with a lump of scar tissue on the lip which would keep him from playing full blast for the time being.

Station Plan Shelved By Fairfax Panel

Discussion of an application from the Standard Oil Co. for the construction of a service station at 2001 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard was postponed last night by the Fairfax Design Review Board until the company produces a more attractive design for the station, Marie Whissell, secretary to the commission, reported today.

The board also completed work on a proposed city sign ordinance. The proposal will go to the Fairfax Planning Commission for its recommendations before it goes before the city council.

The design review board also changed its regular meeting night from the first Thursday to the second Thursday of each month, and granted permission to the Fairfax Human Needs Committee and the League of Women Voters to hang a sign across Broadway to advertise a March 31 meeting to discuss the April 14 elections.

VIOLENCE IN AMERICA

One Company's Position

ISLA VISTA, CALIFORNIA, population 11,250. The business district consists of a couple of gas stations, a few small shops, some real estate offices—and a bank. A large campus of the University of California is nearby. All in all, a normal American suburban community—perhaps very much like the one you live or work in. Normal, that is, until Wednesday, February 25, when violence shattered the peaceful calm of Isla Vista.

At about 8:30 p.m. on the night of February 25, rampaging demonstrators—students and non-students—protesting the "capitalist establishment" converged on the community's small business district.

Several protesters rolled a gasoline-soaked trash bin through a smashed front door in a Bank of America branch and set it ablaze. Other students extinguished the fire. But just before midnight, with the angry crowd in a frenzy, the branch was set ablaze again. While police and fire officials were held at bay by a rock-throwing mob, the bank was gutted by fire and totally destroyed. A police patrol car was overturned and burned. Numerous other fires were started. Windows were smashed and life and property threatened.

These events took place in a community called Isla Vista. They could have happened in your community. They can happen anywhere and with even more disastrous results.

Why did the eruption in Isla Vista take place?

Participants in the violence say it was a protest against the "capitalist establishment," "the war in Vietnam," "the Chicago trial," "student repression," "police brutality," and a list of other grievances against America in 1970. Some of these grievances are real, some are fanciful and others are false. But all deserve to be aired. To the degree that they are not aired, are not taken seriously, Americans break faith with their young.

But all Americans, young and old, liberal and conservative, lose by violence. Violence and destruction are the seeds of anarchy and tyranny—whether it be the tyranny of the extreme right or the extreme left.

We believe the time has come for Americans to unite in one cause: a rejection, total and complete, of violence as a means of political dissent.

All of us, young or old, liberal or conservative, have for too long been silent on the issue of violence. We have been afraid of labels or slogans that would brand us as either arch conservatives or traitors to a liberal cause. Such sloganeering does all of us a grave injustice.

Let us, as a nation, find once again our ability to distinguish between protest and revolt; between dissent and chaos; between demonstration and destruction; between non-violence and violence.

Let us cease to condemn those who disagree with us, but let us also be prompt and resolute in putting an end to violence in our land.

To this end we applaud the courageous response of many dedicated public officials. They deserve the cooperation of all citizens. They will have ours.

Every American has a right to walk the streets in safety. No polemic should be allowed to obscure this right. Your wife or husband, son or daughter ought to be safe in visiting a supermarket, a filling station or a bank—regardless of whether another may choose to reject that institution as an onerous symbol.

It is for these reasons that we plan to re-open our Isla Vista branch on Monday, March 9. We realize that there is danger in this course of action. But we believe the greater danger to ourselves and to all of the people in this nation is to be intimidated by mob violence. We refuse to be so intimidated.

Is the branch worth this much? In monetary terms, the answer is no. It is not, and never has been particularly profitable. But it is there to serve the banking needs of the community and we refuse to be driven out of any community by a violent few.

Is this a bad business decision? Perhaps in a narrow sense it is. But we believe that at some time and in some place Americans must decide whether they intend to have their decisions, indeed their lives, ruled by a violent minority.

We are but one bank, but we have decided to take our stand in Isla Vista.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

SMALL SPADE

West opens the nine of spades, and you see that your contract is a cinch if you can ruff a heart in dummy. But you can't get a ruff if you go after it.

Suppose you take the ace of hearts and lead a diamond in the attempt to reach your hand. West wins with the ace of diamonds and leads another trump. There goes your ruff.

Now suppose you resign yourself to the fact that you can't ruff a heart. You leave the ace of hearts in dummy and lead a low diamond at the second trick, losing the king to the ace. Now if West returns a trump, you overtake with the king in your hand in order to draw the last missing trump. Then you lead diamond to the queen and ruff a diamond.

GOOD BREAK

Since the six missing diamonds break evenly, you can lead a heart to dummy's ace and discard two losers on the last two diamonds. If the diamonds had not broken well you would have led a club toward dummy before removing the ace of hearts. Then you would develop a club trick if West had a high club and if you could guess the right play from dummy.

Actually, West would see that diamonds were going to break upon taking his ace of diamonds. His only chance is to lead a heart to remove dummy's ace.

DUMMY TRUMP

But now there is still a trump in dummy. You cash the queen of diamonds, ruff a diamond to reach your hand, and ruff a heart in the dummy. All you had to do was ignore the ruff if you really wanted to get it.

Water Pollution To Be Radio Panel Topic

Officials of Chem Corp Co. of Sausalito will discuss Bay Area water pollution on the Mike Powell Sunday Special at 8:05 p.m. Sunday on KSFO radio, San Francisco.

Jerry Walter, Douglas May and Walter Hannah will discuss devices made by the company and now being used on the San Francisco Peninsula to prevent industrial water pollution.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, March 6, the 65th day of 1970 with 300 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1836 Mexican forces captured the Alamo at San Antonio, Tex., killing the last of 187 Americans who had held out for 13 days, including famous frontiersman Davey Crockett. From the slaughter arose the cry, "Remember the Alamo!"

In 1857 the Supreme Court handed down its landmark Dred Scott Decision, ruling that Scott, a Negro slave, could not sue for his freedom in a federal court.

In 1964 King Paul died at the age of 62 and son Prince Constantine became ruler of Greece. Three years later Constantine was sent into exile by a military regime which took over the country.

In 1968 long-time American Congressman Joseph Martin, former Speaker of the House, died at the age of 83.

A thought for the day: Elizabeth Barrett Browning said, "If thou must love me, let it be for naught except for love's sake only."

When high Pacific winds buffet San Francisco, radio announcers often broadcast "small-car warnings on Golden Gate Bridge," says National Geographic.

Reorganization Of Panel Urged

Marin's City-County Planning Council could operate more effectively with a change in organization, a special committee on reorganization reported last night.

San Rafael Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner, chairman of the special committee, outlined his recommendations at the council meeting in the Civic Center.

At present, the county planning staff handles all communications and sets up agendas for the council meetings, Hotchner pointed out.

Since the staff member working on a project is the one who presents reports and gives advice, "the consequence has been a oneness of focus, mass of detail, excessive use of obscure or complicated kording," said Hotchner. He suggested that meeting agendas be set up by a coordinating committee comprised of laymen and professionals instead of by the county planning staff.

City-County Planning Council members accepted the report for further discussion at the next meeting.

The City-County Planning Council also:

HOUSING—Endorsed a public housing measure that will be on the June 2 ballot. Former Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen explained that the measure will ask voters to approve 600 more units of low-rent housing to be developed by the Marin County Housing Authority.

NEW MEMBERS—Welcomed San Rafael Planning Commissioners Joseph J. Garbarino and James Dougan as new council members.

BUDGET—Decided to discuss the 1970-71 budget at the April 2 meeting. The proposed new budget is $223,190, down from this year's $229,315.

NEXT MEETING—Set the next meeting for 8 p.m. April 2 at the Civic Center.

Magnesium powder burns so brightly it is used in making fireworks and flares.

Heavy Snowfalls Blanket Germany

BERLIN A(P) — Berlin and surrounding East Germany battled the heaviest snowfall of the winter today and the city itself lay under the thickest carpet of snow in this century.

A military spokesman report U.S .Army duty trains running through East Germany hours behind schedule, in or out of West Berlin. Trains inbound from Frankfurt and Bremerhaven in West Germany were somewhere past Magdeburg, a spokesman said at 1 p.m., and due in West Berlin later in the day. Normally they arrive at 7 a.m.

Western border officers reported that traffic on access roads leading to West Germany was severely hampered by drifts.

Marin Tax Rate Sixth Highest, Climbs To $10.71

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The average property tax rate in Marin County climbed 52 cents this fiscal year to $10.71 per $100 assessed valuation, the state board of equalization has reported.

Marin placed sixth highest in the state in property tax rate.

On a per capita basis, Marin's average tax payment was $290.03 per person, compared to the state per capita average of $246.67 during fiscal 1969-70.

For Marin this represented a $7.77 per person increase over fiscal 1968-69, the state said.

A total of $59,731,000 was paid by Marin property owners, the state said, with the lion's share going to the school districts which received $36,965,000. The cities got $4,735,000; the county, $14,106,000; and special districts, $3,925,000.

Legend has it that $27 million in pirate gold may still be buried on Pelican Island at Galveston, Tex.

Young Slayer Taken To Washington Trial

Thomas E. Braun, 20, convicted murderer, kidnapper and rapist, left San Quentin's Death Row yesterday for a trip to the state of Washington where he will be tried on another murder charge, San Quentin officials reported today.

Braun was sentenced to death in December, 1968, for the murder of Timothy Luce, 17, in August, 1967, in Mendocino County.

He was also sentenced to consecutive terms ranging from six months to life for rape, kidnaping and assault with intent to commit muider.

Luce's girl friend, Susan Bartolomei, was left paralyzed and speechless by bullet wounds in the head.

Braun's companion, Leonard Maine, 20, is serving an indeterminate sentence for second degree murder at the Tracy prison.

Washington sheriff deputies took custody of Braun yesterday, San Quentin Associate Warden James W. L. Park said today.

Suspect Denies Marijuana Count

Keith Steven Gwin, 25, of Tamalpais Valley, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of having marijuana at his home when arrested there on Berkeley LSD charges Monday.

A preliminary hearing was set for April 30.

Gwin has been identified as the renter of a Berkeley house where agents seized $50,000 worth of LSD as well as equipment for manufacturing the drug.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Code Allows Individuals To Take Score Of Expense Items

The Internal Revenue Code allows individuals to take a deduction for ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred (1) for the production and collection of income; (2) for the management, conservation or maintenance of income-producing property; or (3) in connection with determination, collection or refund of any tax.

The expenses of commuting between your residence and any business location situated within the area of your home are not deductible, regardless of distance, or different locations on different days.

If you haul tools, etc., in your car in commuting to and from your place of business for your convenience, the cost of operating the car is nondeductible. However, if you cannot store the tools, etc., at the place you work, or if you work at different locations every day, and also you would not have used your car except for hauling tools, etc., which are too bulky or heavy to be carried otherwise, the expense is deductible.

WORK CLOTHES

Work clothes and uniforms are deductible if your occupation is one which specifically requires special apparel or equipment as a condition of employment and it is not adaptable to general or continued usage so as to take the place of ordinary clothing.

Deductible work clothes include the cost of special apparel and equipment required in the occupations of ballplayers, firemen, police officers, letter carriers, nurses and civilian faculty members of a military school.

The cost of theatrical clothing and accessories used by professional musicians and entertainers is deductible if used solely in the course of their employment.

Uniforms of transportation employees — air, rail, bus, etc., are deductible if they are used solely in the course of their employment.

Some occupations require safety shoes and helmets, others require work gloves, oil clothes and rubber boots, such as are worn by commercial fishermen. Costs of these are deductible.

IN ARMED FORCES

If you are a reservist in the Armed Forces, you may deduct, to the extent not reimbursed, the cost of your uniform if it may be legally worn only while performing duties as a reservist. In computing the deduction, the cost must be reduced by any non-taxable allowance you receive on account of such expenses. If you are on full-time duty in the Armed Forces, the cost of your uniform is not deductible.

School teachers. Amounts which you pay for a substitute teacher to take your place are deductible. However, you are not entitled to this deduction to the extent that it is allocable to amounts excluded as sick pay.

OTHER ITEMS

Subscriptions to professional journals, etc., relating to your business or profession and membership dues in professional societies.

Union dues; small tools and supplies; employment agency fees; physical examination fees paid by you and required by your employer to establish your physical fitness to retain your job.

Also moving expenses for a new job; traveling expenses not reimbursed by your employer; entertainment expenses not reimbursed by your employer; school teachers' sabbatical leave expenses; use of your home in your work; attorneys' and accountants' fees on tax matters; automobile expenses not reimbursed by your employer and educational expenses.

These and many more items are deductible if you know the rules.

Wall Street Is Hit By Profit Taking

NEW YORK (UPI)—Profit taking and normal, pre-weekend evening-up operations dragged the stock market lower today, with declines ahead of advances by almost 2 to 1.

With about an hour to go, the UPI Marketwide Indicator showed a loss of 0.44 per cent on 1,545 issues crossing the tape. Of these, 420 retreated and 475 gained.

A four-hour turnover of around 9,000,000 shares was in line with Thursday's at a similar period.

Many Wall Street analysts said the market was digesting its recent gains, but they noted that some constructive economic news may be needed to turn the market around again.

There was widespread belief that major banks will reduce the prime interest rate in the next two or three months. Newton Zinder, senior analyst for the E. F. Hutton Brokerage, said "to move up from here the market will need the actual cut."

A number of electronics attracted considerable selling pressure, while steels, motors and chemicals generally traded in fractions.

DINING OUT AND INNS

Midweek Is Best Time To Pay Visit To Lagunitas' Old Viking

If you are wise, you will pick some midweek evening to visit the Old Viking at Lagunitas—particularly during the busy fair-weather season.

There are times on weekends when, driving from the eastern part of the county, it is all you can do to cut across the steady stream of traffic returning from the beaches to get into the Mattssons' parking area.

Then, too, the chances are better during the week for getting a table without a reservation or long wait. The Old Viking draws its customers not only from the San Geronimo Valley but also from surprisingly distant points on the map.

This has been especially true since a certain restaurant writer, who covers a wide range of restaurants in the Bay Area and has an impressive subscription list among the food dilettanti, visited the little Swedish place about a year ago and gave it such a hearty recommendation it has been buzzing happily with diners ever since.

The testimonial was well deserved and I am happy that Matts and Phyllis are reaping their rewards after going through the customary initial period of difficulties experienced by most restauranteurs new to the county.

The savory potroast with potato pancakes is a big favorite of many visitors (the Swedes call it slottstek med potatispannkakar) and you should also plan to sample the Mattssons' Swedish herring salad.

You don't rush things in a restaurant like this, so during the preliminaries be sure to include a efw sips or more of Matts' "Old Viking Special" cocktail. At the other end of the meal, the cheesecake is the thing.

WHILE I'M IN the neighborhood of San Geronimo Valley, may I suggest that if you have an eye alert to the recreational season not far ahead you look into the family membership benefits of the San Geronimo Valley Swim and Tennis Club in Woodacre.

This is the place on Garden Way that used to be known as the Woodacre Improvement Club, but a lot of improvements have been done recently. Among other things it has a clubhouse, two swimming pools and a lot of room to relax. Call Joe Bianchi of Duraclean Cleaning in San Rafael for more information. He's president this year.

THERE'S A NEW little Mexican restaurant called El Toreador that had its grand opening in Ignacio last weekend. It's located at 5929 Redwood Highway, not far from Galli's.

Owner Mrs. Barbara Hansen, who lives in nearby Loma Verde, has three Mexican cooks and says she has been keeping all of them busy since her opening. She was in the restaurant business previously at Sacramento.

All the popular Mexican combination plates and a la carte dishes are served. Dinners are from 4 to 10 p.m. Mondays through Sundays, with both counter and table service.

Food is also prepared to take out.

NEW NAME for the Lodge in Novato is Sportsman's Lodge.

Jim Stockman, who heads the United States Hotel Corp. in Oakland (a management firm) has taken a 10-year lease here and also has an option to buy from present owner Oliver Kullberg of Petaluma. Stockman has owned and operated many motels and hotels in both Northern and Southern California (the Edgewater Inn at Corte Madera was one of them) and he plans many improvements to go with the new name.

Pete Lind still maintains a sublease for the bar and food operation, which he operates with his family under the name of Shipwreck Pete's.

Shipwreck Pete's by the way, is holding its first invitational "Bowling Carnivale" on March 22. An invitation? You'll have to ask Pete. I know you have to be some kind of a bowler and wear a costume.

MANKA'S CZECH RESTAURANT at Inverness is open for dinners only on weekends, until after Easter. Fridays from 6 to 8:30 p.m.; Saturdays 6 to 9 p.m.; and Sundays from 2:30 to 8:30 p.m.

And Vladimir's Moravian Restaurant in downtown Inverness is sometimes closed during weekdays when the snow is dry and powdery on the mountain slopes. Vlad and Elena Nevl are great ski enthusiasts. But it's always open Saturdays and Sundays.

IN SONOMA COUNTY, the season opened for several restaurants on March 1, and several others will be opening later.

Cazanoma Lodge at Cazadero is now serving dinners Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays (not open the rest of the week until May).

Golden Bear Lodge at Kenwood serves dinners daily except Thursdays.

Mark West Lodge, Santa Rosa, serves dinners daily except Wednesdays.

Gobbler's Roostaurant at Sebastopol will open March 14 for dinners Thursdays through Sundays.

Hexagon House at Guerneville will open for dinners on weekends beginning April 25 — changing to seven days a week during June, July and August.

ART DISPLAY on the walls at Rubini's in Fairfax this month features the unusual decoupage work of Marion Foster of Concord.

NINO MUSSO of Mill Valley, bartender at Bill and Adolph's West End Villa in San Rafael for the past three years, and with La Petite Auberge for several years before that, has transferred his activities to San Francisco. You'll find him now at Le Cyrano French restaurant on Geary Boulevard across from the French Hospital.

SAN RAFAEL RESTAURANTEUR Eugene Lackenbach of Eugene's Country Club Restaurant is attending the interstate western conference of the Food Service Executives Association at Del Webb's Towne House in San Francisco this weekend. He is a past international vice president of the association.

THE LION'S SHARE on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile has programmed two double billings this weekend. Tonight and tomorrow night Lamb and Maggie's Farm share honors. On Sunday are featured the NuBooGaLoo Express and Pamela Pollard.

Next week free audition nights are on Wednesday and Thursday. And the Jerry Hahn Brotherhood is booked for March 13 and 14.

IF COUNTING CALORIES bugs you, consider what happened to the poor guy who thought them up. A Frenchman, Antoine Lavoisier, he came up in 1794 with the word "calory" to denote a unit of heat. But Lavoisier met a fate the fat cats secretly believe he deserved. He was guillotined.

Khaki military uniforms were first worn by British troops in India in 1848 and 50 years later the U.S. adopted them.

Six Water Polluters Shape Up

WASHINGTON (AP) - Six water polluters have shaped up in a hurry under the threat of legal prosecution by Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel.

But Interior's top antipollution enforcer, Murray Stein, says others apparently aren't taking the hint.

Last Aug. 30, Hickel told four steel firms, a mining company and the city of Toledo they were violating interstate water quality standards; he gave them 180 days to do something about it.

All six, Stein said in an interview, have begun—and in some cases completed-action to solve their pollution problems.

GREAT RESULTS

"The results," he said, "were marvelous. We had a 1,000 percent batting average."

Hickel commented, "The fact that all of these entities are in compliance is a great source of hope in our drive to clean up the nation's waters."

But Stein said others apparently are not rushing to abate their own pollution.

In fact, he said, even the companies Hickel has cited showed no sign of taking corrective steps in plants at other locations.

"My indication is that even with the same corporations we'll have to make a judgment mill by mill," he said.

Hickel issued pollution warnings against U.S. Steel Corp., Jones and Laughiin Steel Co. and Republic Steel Corp. on the Cuyahoga River in Ohio; Interlake Steel Co. and the city of Toledo on the Maumee River, also in Ohio; and Eagle-Picher Industries, Inc., a Baster Springs, Kans., mining firm, on the Spring River in Kansas and Oklahoma.

HALTS ACTION

The answers are satisfactory and "at this point we are not proceeding any further," said Frank Hall, an aide to Hickel. But, he said "We will be maintaining a close watch on all of them."

And Hickel himself, in a speech at Princeton University Thursday night, repeated his promise "that we shall vigorously prosecute those who pollute. And that means anyone who pollutes, whether it be individuals, political entities or industries.

"They are going to find out just how tough we can be," he said.

Old Adobe Trustees Vote Raises, Add Job

Salary increases for teachers were approved last night by the Old Adobe School District Board, Petaluma, and the new position of superintendent of transportation, maintenance and grounds established.

In reviewing the budget, the board approved the salary raises with hesitation, Supt. Dean D. Magowan reported.

The salary schedule will be adjusted so that the beginning salary of $6,400 will be doubled at $12,800 for the top salary.

The top salary had been $12,560. Magowan estimated the increases would cost the district an additional $3,000. He said the board hesitated before approving the increase because of concern for lack of adequate reserves. Magowan recommended approval.

The new position approved will carry a salary range of $650 to $800 per month and responsibilities will include the supervision of custodians and maintenance of buildings and school buses.

The board approved a contract with the California State Personnel Board to test applicants for the job in April with work beginning in May.

The Old Adobe School District Board also:

LANDSCAPE — Received for study a report on landscaping plans by architect William Kapranos.

AIDES—Heard a report that teacher aides from Sonoma State College had started work last week with the project moving successfully.

MEETING — Scheduled the next board meeting for March 19 at 7:30 p.m.

In Good Condition

James Nelson, 22, of Santa Rosa, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital after suffering an electrical shock at 1:45 p.m. yesterday while installing a sign in front of the Parkway Drive-In, north of Petaluma on Highway 101.

Jobless Rate In February Highest Since October '65

WASHINGTON (AP) — The unemployment rate climbed to its highest level in 4½ years last month, indicating a further slowdown in the nation's economy under the Nixon administration's efforts to combat inflation.

The February jobless rate was 4.2 per cent, up from 3.9 per cent the preceding month and at its highest level since October 1965, the Labor Department reported today.

The increase hit hardest among full-time adult workers and in the manufacturing industries, where employment has been falling off steadily since last August, the department said.

A total of 3.8 million members of the nation's work force were out of work in February, up from 3.4 million in January—an increase, after seasonal adjustment, of 250,000. About one-third of the increase, the government said, was caused by production cutbacks in the automobile industry.

Workers in durable goods manufacturing have been especially hit by the employment slowdown, with their unemployment rate climbing to 4.7 last month—nearly double the post-Korean War low of 2.5 per cent reached in February 1969.

Most of the increase in unemployment took place among adult workers — about 150,000 for men and 130,000 for women, with joblessness among teenagers holding steady for the month.

The unemployment rate for adult men increased from 2.5 to 2.8 per cent in February, also the highest level since October 1965. The increase affected men in all major age groups, but especially those between 20 and 24, whose unemployment rate climbed from 6.1 to 6.7 per cent last month.

The department noted that since February 1969, when unemployment was at its lowest since the Korean War, the total number of unemployed workers has risen by 875,000.

Total employment for the month was put at 78.8 million workers, a figure down slightly from January's total.

Also on the decline last month was factory overtime in both durable and nondurable goods, declining from 3.3 to 3.2 hours. The manufacturing work week fell by four-tenths of an hour for the second straight month to 39.9 hours, the lowest level since January 1962.

Average hourly earnings for all production and nonsupervisory workers rose two cents in February to $3.15. That was a gain of 19 cents, or 6.4 per cent from a year earlier, but was the smallest over-the-year percentage increase since May 1969.

Average weekly eanrings increased $.106 over the month to $117.18, with increases in all major industry categories except manufacturing. The weekly increase from February 1969 was $7.07, or 6.4 per cent.

Volunteers Aid Tot Hearing Tests

BY MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Why test infants for hearing defects within hours after birth?

The importance of having this done as soon as possible is revealed in a visit to the Well Baby Clinic at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley. One of the major interests of the club for almost 45 years, the clinic since 1942 has been a part of the Child Health Conferences of the Marin County Health Department conducted in cooperation with many local organizations.

It is actually possible now for parents to know whether their child shortly after birth can hear normally, according to Mrs. Ruth Connelly, director of the Marin Hearing and Speech Center at Marin General Hospital.

A major reason for testing babies as early as possible for hearing defects, explains Mrs. Connelly, is that these defects can be mistaken for many other deficiencies, with disastrous results. Parents may think their child is dumb, stubborn or retarded.

Another important reason is that remedial procedures and training can be provided immediately to reduce the hearing handicap to a minimum.

Mrs. Connelly says that babies who are born at Marin General Hospital are automatically tested. She also points out that a hearing test is of vital importance during the time that language patterns are being established.

"IF LANGUAGE doesn't develop at this time severe problems occur, and if a child hasn't got help by the time he is three or four he tunes out and doesn't respond."

She described how the program began.

"We were contacted by the Marin County School Department about a year ago in regard to identifying children with hearing problems at a very early age, and we started the testing program at Marin General Hospital for all newborn babies.

"The School Department then contacted the County Health Department and asked if the Marin Hearing and Speech Center could provide this diagnostic test service for all children and adults with hearing problems.

"Since then we have been teaching volunteers to do screen testing in the Child Health Conferences that are sponsored by the County Health Department at 10 places in the county." The Outdoor Art Club is one of these places.

Mrs. Connelly went on to tell what happens if hearing loss is found in the screening tests.

"Parents are referred to their physicians," she says. "who will then refer them either to a hearing specialist or to the Hearing and Speech Center for more definitive tests. If we find that there is a hearing loss and that nothing can be done to reverse the loss medically or surgically, the children are enrolled in special classes that are offered under the department of special education in the schools.

"THE SCHOOL department in Marin is the only one in California offering special education for six to 18-month-old infants with hearing defects.

"Teachers go to the homes of very young children to teach parents now to deal with the problems. Children from 18 months to three years go to one special class and those from three years up to another special class made up according to these ages and their language and hearing abilities in their regular schools."

At the clinic in the Outdoor Art Club the screen testing was demontsrated by four women. These were the nurse in charge, Mrs. Betty Cahill, Mrs. Maynard Sears, who has been clinic chairman for the past eight years; and two club volunteers, Mrs. Richard Andersen and Mrs. Richard Rider.

Techniques used vary from sounding specially researched small noise-producing objects, such as a bell, squeeze-squeak toy, rattle or whistle for babies under a year and a half old ,to making more complicated sounds for those over that age. These include whispering consonants or vowels, the word 'hello', the child's name or asking them to follow directions like pointing to nose, eye or their mother.

Some of the responses noted, which varied in time from a fast one second to a slow four seconds and in intensity from no response to strong, were eye blinks or eye widening, stopping of activity, limb movement, or turning the head toward or away from sound.

"We just started this program of testing infants last September," Sally Sears explained. "It's a free service sponsored by the Marin County Health Department."

"I have become so interested in the total program of the clinic that though I say every year I'm going to retire, I enjoy it too much to give it up even after working in it 12 years."

ONE OF THE simple screen tests used to detect hearing defects in infants is sounding of specially researched small noise-making objects. At the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club's Well Baby Clinic seven-months-old Clare Olson shows by turning toward the triangle being struck by a club volunteer that she hears well. Clare is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Olson of Mill Valley.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Intimate Lunches And Dinners Are Replacing Big Office Bashes

DEAR HELEN:

Office parties—the big planned kind—may be on their way out, but office partying is definitely not. I mean the intimate little lunches and the late dinners after overtime and the impromptu going away affairs which are liquid good-byes to a fellow worker, but often start a good thing going between those left behind.

The secretary who said men and women office workers don't spend all their time chasing each other around desks is partially right. But plenty of time is spent in pursuit, nevertheless. Take it from a stay-at-home wife of a more than willing man.

I would like to stage a mass protest against infidelity which so conveniently disguises itself under the name of business.

Won't wives who are equally disgusted join me? I bitterly resent the attitude of "anything goes" so long as you're discreet, and I detest the way office workers unite to protect the wayward one, even helping him along with his affairs. I've heard of one group of men who rent an apartment for all to use "when something interesting turns up."

I'd like to gather all wives who are faithful, hard-working, confined mothers of small children — and furious with "office partying"—for a march en masse through the city of New York. We could all go on strike for one week and refuse to perform any of our wifely tasks.

Helen, please help us wipe out infidelity and save American marriages. — DISGUSTED WIFE ON VERGE OF DIVORCE AFTER 10 YEARS AND THREE CHILDREN

DEAR WIFE:

I'm all for wiping out infidelity, but marches just aren't my bag. Why don't you contact the Womens' Liberation Front? . . .Though some of its members aren't exactly sweet little wife types. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

These women who complain about their sport-nut husbands. Hold it, ladies: Quit flapping your jaws and thank the good Lord your men are home watching TV and not in some bar boozing it up or in bed with some other woman. You'll drive them there if you keep up the fuss.

I never realized how much my husband loved sports until after we married. I felt so rejected those Saturday and Sundays that he spent glued to the tube that I sat in another room, pouting. After several arguments I decided it's better to "join 'em than fight 'em." So I started asking questions about the different sports. It didn't take me long to catch on.

Now we are both avid watchers and enjoy every minute of it together.

You dearies should wise up and shut up. — MRS. C.K.J.

DEAR HELEN:

I never thought it would happen to me, but I'm being blackmailed. Sure, it's my own fault. I had a little fling which meant nothing, but would upset my wife. Now the girl claims she is pregnant and demands $1200 for one of those "London weekends." She wasn't lily white when I met her, but I can't prove I'm not responsible. And if I don't hand over the money, she'll request it from my wife. How do you fight something like this? — FIRST AND LAST TIME

DEAR F AND LT:

Wouldn't it be easier to pay for your mistake and let the fight come later: Against the next temptation? — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

British Brain Damaged Children Taken To The U. S. As Last Hope

By TERRY PATTINSON
London Express Feature

Twenty-five British children with brain damage left London for the Philadelphia Brain Damage Institute late last month despite medical warnings to their parents that the special treatment could have "psychological and physical dangers" for the children.

The flight was organized by the Cheltenham Society for Brain Damage to Children and is a last hope for the parents, many of whom have spent their life-savings in financing the trip.

James Loring, director of the National Spastics Society said, "Brain damage is completely irreversible, and I am afraid that these desperate parents are wasting their time.

"THEY HAVE been affected by the curious American bally-hoo surrounding this course of treatment.

"My heart goes out to them, and I feel terribly sorry for them. I have told the Cheltenham Society president of my views.

"These children, who are from all over Britain, could well suffer psychological and physical danger from this course which involves eight to nine sessions of therapy a day and involves treatment of children by parents, neighbors and helpers, when they have returned home.

"It is intensive therapy and involves the manipulation of the limbs and attempt at the use of language.

"SOME SUCCESS can be derived from this method, but one does not have to go to America to get it. Physiotherapy facilities are available in this country. But we are very much against this American system, which has so many dangers both psychological and physical.

Loring said some parents can easily afford the expensive trip, but poorer ones are "almost having to sell up house and home" to meet the costs of the two-week-stay. Some will remain in Philadelphia for up to six weeks.

The course is run by three doctors, the brothers Robert and Glen Doman and Dr. Carl Delacato.

Loring added, "The parents have formed themselves into this group because they are desperate. They believe this is their last hope.

Blind Woman, Coed Benefit From A Summer Together

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—A blind Lubbock woman and a Lorenzo, Tex., freshman coed at Texas Tech University are still benefiting from the summer they spent together this past year.

Vicki Liston, of Lorenzo, has a goal for the rest of her life after spending the three months as a companion and advisor to Barbee Thompson, a Lubbock woman born blind.

Miss Liston enrolled at Texas Tech with a pocketful of dreams for a major in child development that will emphasize education of the blind.

"THE TIME I spent during the summer with Miss Thompson has inspired me to attempt to make a contribution to the lives of other blind persons in the world," she said. "I was able to see through Barbee just what a need there was in this field."

Miss Thompson has overcome more than blindness, however. After being born blind, it was discovered at the age of three that she had suffered brain damage, which caused a tendency toward epilepsy.

Any of the three problems would have presented almost unconquerable barriers in itself. But with the help of her parents and an older brother, Miss Thompson has overcome all three.

Her father, Asher Thompson, has added to the lives of many blind persons. He is serving an unprecedented term as chairman of the state commission for the blind, and also serves as a board member of the Lubbock Light House for the Blind.

MISS THOMPSON is a strong-minded, talented young lady who plays the piano, sings and types on a Braille typewriter. She can pull a record from her collection and call it by name, tell its artist and label—all without the help of braille notation.

At present she is back in New Mexico's School for the Visually Handicapped.

From their summer together, the two young women are moving ahead—both encouraged after playing away last summer, swimming, studying, bowling, weaving, swinging, skating and making candle sticks.

Each claims to have learned a lot from the other which will be meaningful for years to come.

Mr. and Mrs. Casimir Silewicz of Mill Valley announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Silewicz, to Bruce Beardsley, son of Roderick Beardsley of Yakima, Wa., and Mrs. Lewis Bagley of Mill Valley.

Both of the couple were graduated from Tamalpais High School. Nancy is now attending College of Marin. She is the sister of Thomas and Peter Silewicz of Mill Valley.

Bruce received an associate of science degree from College of Marin and is employed at the Red Cart Market in Mill Valley. He is the brother of Debra, Cheryl and Heather Beardsley and the grandson of Mrs. Maud Pilkington, all of Mill Valley.

The couple will be married on Sept. 5 at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church in Mill Valley.

Ivarson-Kinnan Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kinnan of Arcata have announced the engagement of their daughter, Rita Marlene, to Thomas Hugo Ivarson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Ivarson of Petaluma.

The bride-elect was graduated from Arcata High School and is attending the College of the Redwoods.

A graduate of Petaluma High School, Thomas has served four years in the Coast Guard.

Unknown Diabetes A Problem

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Undetected diabetes is one of the most serious causes of still-births and miscarriages, a Spanish gynecologist says.

An autopsy of the dead fetus, performed in only about 50 per cent of such cases in the United States, often will reveal diabetes in the mother, Dr. Jose Botella-Llusia said in an interview Tuesday.

"The treatment of the diabetic mother is not difficult," Botella-Llusia said. The problem, he said, is recognizing diabetes in persons who have not developed the disease's symptoms.

Botella-Llusia, rector of the University of Madrid and chairman of the obstretics department there, was in Los Angeles to address the Obstetrical and Gynecological Assembly of Southern California.

Diabetes impairs the body's ability to use sugar. Botella-Llusia said death of a fetus sometimes is the first indication a woman is pre-diabetic, one who hasn't show the symptoms.

Autopsy of the dead fetus is conducted in large hospitals, but rarely in smaller ones, the physician said.

First Woman

The first woman graduate of a law school in the United States was Ada Kepley, who received her degree in 1870 from Chicago's Union College of Law.

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A new guide for press chairmen of organizations which are interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent-Journal is now available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper," is issued as a service of the Independent-Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for women's organizations.

The guide explains policies of coverage, how to prepare news stories and meeting notices, and the special stories and features emphasized by the section.

The booklets at the San Rafael office may be obtained from the switchboard on the main floor.

Coming this Saturday in Marin Magazine

Special features you'll enjoy:

Bonsai Clubs International claims 4,000 members on four continents, and its president is a Marinite. In tomorrow's issue of the Independent-Journal Marin Magazine, Tom Kirkbride writes about bonsai expert Bob Krohn, his wife, Peggy, also an enthusiast, and their outstanding collection of minature tree specimens. It's an excellent introduction to what many have found to be a most satisfying hobby.

Brass rubbing is one of the simplest of the art media to master, yet the work it produces is among the most impressive. So claims Marge Keilholtz of San Anselmo, a practitioner of the unusual artform. And in tomorrow's I-J weekend supplement, she and writer Gil Pearson join forces to tell you about this creative activity and to tell you about what it is like to work in Westminster Abbey.

FAMILY

"Krakatoa, East of Java" — An amazing film that makes Cinerama history. In 1883 a small island, Krakatoa, was split apart by gigantic volcanic explosions followed by a tidal wave. The adventures of a steamship on a secret treasure salvage operation enveloped in this halocaust is an unforgettable experience.

ADULTS AND TEENAGERS

"Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" — True story of two bandits told in farcical tone but documentary in presentation. Film does not deny the violence attendant on their lives and deaths.

"Cactus Flower" — Middle-aged playboy dentist drafts his nurse to masquerade as his estranged wife and rescue him from a complicated situation with his current mistress.

"Her Majesty's Secret Service" — Winter scenery in Swiss Alps and skiers performing amazing feats are assets to this James Bond film. Violence and sex make it unsuitable for children.

"Out of It" — Perceptive, realistic chronicle of teen-age growing pains. The anxieties and fantasies of a high school senior who doesn't mix well trying to be accepted in a swinging group during a summer vacation. Sex aspects, quite frank at times are an essential part of story.

"Secret of Santa Vittoria" — Anthony Quinn is perfectly cast as the drunken major of an Italian village, whose major problem is to keep a million bottles of wine out of Nazis's greedy hands. Dialogue risque, pace drags in spots, bedroom scenes relatively well handled.

"Some Kind of Nut" — Spoof on present day rebellion against conformity. A mild mannered bank clerk, quite by accident, throws tradition of a bank into complete confusion.

"Sterile Cuckoo" — Tale of a first love told with insight that is a tribute to director Alan Pakula. Liza Minnelli gives an outstanding performance as a lonely mixed up, kooky girl. Her affair with her boyfriend becomes her grasp on life, but since he does not love her, they must make a painful decision.

"Tell Them Willie Boy Is Here" — Excellent film tells true story of an Indian, pursued by a posse for killing in self defense, wins the respect and sympathy of young sheriff who leads the pursuit. Exquisitely photographed.

"Tick...Tick...Tick" — A newly elected black sheriff succeeds a popular white man in a small southern town. A timely subject, competently handled. The film makes its point for united effort and understanding among people with common goals.

"Topaz" — Title is code name for a Russian spy ring operating within the French government. Events are historically true. A valid point about the futility of violence is made.

"Winning" — Complex love story with a vivid auto racing background. Delicately handled study of intrinsic aloneness of human beings. Love scenes are handled with taste and restraint.

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Alice's Restaurant" — Thought provoking, true life happening. Folksinger Arlo Guthrie describes a commune that welcomes the wandering hippies who sing, dance, make love and smoke pot in an uncommitted life that is both sad and funny. Some of the language and actions are in poor taste.

"Prime of Miss Jean Brodie" — Superb drama about unethical and uninhibited conduct of a teacher in a private school for girls. Film needs thoughtful adult evaluation to uncover the sham of its sick characters.

"They Shoot Horses, Don't They" — Dance marathons of depression years are vividly recreated in this powerful, unusual drama in a study of humanity that is symbolic of life's struggles. Ending is macabre and shocking.

"This Property is Condemned" — Set in a small Mississippi railroad town during the depression, a young girl escapes her amoral mother's domination by marrying an older man, then stealing his money and running away. Outstanding performances from cast.

ADULTS ONLY

"Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice" — An irreverent social satire, slick in its trimmings, has a sharp bite in its characters, dialogue and frank appraisal of modern marriage and morals. After a week-end of "confrontation therapy" one couple convince their best friends to swap mates. Comedy will seem funny to some, jaundiced to others.

"A Stranger in Town" — Italian made western is a gory blood-bath. A brutal story about thieves who try to double-cross each other in stealing a shipment of gold on loan to Mexico from the States.

"Three Into Two Won't Go" — Heartaches of a middle-aged couples' childless marriage are explored in this drama when one of the husbands' pick-up dates goes to his home and tells the wife she is pregnant. Nudity and explicit sex.

POET, EX-MONK, HUSBAND

Brother Antoninus Happy, Sad

By PAT ANGLE

Last December Brother Antoninus, a 57-year-old Dominican monk and nationally recognized poet, made a sudden and dramatic decision during a poetry reading at the University of California at Davis.

He quickly removed the Dominican habit he wore for 19 years and announced to startletd students that he was leaving the religious life to marry a 22-year-old woman.

This week, seated in the casually furnished living room of his modest Stinson Beach home, William Everson recalled the agony and exaltation of that decision. His red-haired young wife, the former Susanna Rickson, listened quietly while her year-old son, Jude, explored the room in energetic fashion.

"I feel uncomfortable when people congratulate me; I feel they shouldn't," the gray-haired, bearded Everson said, his gentle face betraying some of his inner struggle. "I don't believe what I did was right," he said candidly, "even though my whole being rejoices in the joy I have found in marriage."

He smiled at his wife. "Susanna is so beautiful, youthful, childlike and spontaneous, so receptive to life—and the boy too." His eyes misted. "It makes tears come to my eyes when I see how lucky and how happy I am."

But there is pain in him too, and the guilt which comes from an abandoned vocation and betrayed ideals. "I believed in my vows; I really believed in them; I was convinced I would spend the rest of my life as a monk," Everson said earnestly. "I refuse to denigrate my vows by saying 'Thank God, that's over.'"

Everson would have made his final vows in 1971—if he had not met his wife when she came to him for counseling while he was stationed in Kentfield in the fall of 1965.

He was drawn to her "almost immediately" and by the following spring, "I knew I loved her." Still, until their marriage December 13, he thought his emotion "just a phase. . .until finally it dawned on me in the slow way it takes a man . . . "

For four years, he revealed, he saw Susanna secretly, but still battled with his feelings; he even "ran away to Europe," but kept returning again and again to her Stinson Beach home. During one break in their relationship, she met and fell in love with another man and bore his son, but the relationship did not last.

"It's a funny thing but the coming of the boy changed Sue; she was no longer just a girl; his birth made our marriage feasible," Everson said.

Someday, "when the time is right," the couple hopes to be married in the Catholic Church (one of Everson's two brief marriages before he converted to Catholicism is still an impediment to his present marriage in the eyes of the Church) so the former monk can return to the sacraments.

"I still believe in God and what has happened has done nothing to change my faith," he said. "I don't feel guilty before God."

The transition from a large, peaceful monastery to a small house, especially one containing a child, has been difficult, but Everson is sure he will adjust. "I'm not used to children around; it is exciting but I have an uptight psyche," he admitted. "However, fatherhood is creeping up on me, although I am still more aloof from Jude than I want to be."

Mrs. Everson has no doubts about the relationship. "The other day Jude took his first steps and Antoninus got very excited about it, even more excited than I did," she confided.

The young Mrs. Everson, who admits she only went to college "because I didn't have anything else to do" has found she thoroughly enjoys being a housewife. "I've been learning to cook and three of his brothers (fellow monks) came to visit recently and they liked the meal," she said shyly.

There is plenty for her to do with a husband, child, house and garden (mustard and watercress). "We have an old wringer washing machine and that makes even washing a big deal," she laughed. Her free time is spent in long quiet walks with her husband in the mountains or on the beach or in small, happy activities like collecting rocks for the necklace she is making for him.

The couple spend most of their time alone together and do not often leave Stinson Beach except for occasional shopping trips or visits to Everson's poet friends—occasions which Susanna—not a reader of poetry — admits she "dreads."

"I'm afraid she has a little trouble accepting my set," Everson said with obvious concern. "Usually, Sue spends her time during visits on the floor playing with the children."

Trips to the grocery store can be a bit traumatic with a former monk in tow, Susanna smilingly admits. "I can't really spend time looking around at things when I know he is there, suffering from the fluorescent lights and the salesladies," she said.

The evenings in the small home are especially beautiful for Everson. "When we come in from whatever the day has brought and Sue begins to cook, beautiful meals, and pours out the wine. . .with a fire going and music playing; oh, it's a wonderful time, a wonderful feeling."

Surprisingly, Everson is strongly in favor of celibacy for priests and monks. "I don't think I (or most men) could live the life of a public servant that a priest must be and be married with a family. Both are such demanding lives," he said in explanation.

He does not worry that his new life has made it difficult to establish a set routine for his poetry writing. He has already completed a series of poems dealing with his guilt and travail in leaving the order. Soon, he plans to begin work on a new series of poems, "a joyous affirmation of my new life."

Just this week, Everson finished remodeling a nearby cabin into a library and a place to write, but is currently too content to make rigid writing schedules and deadlines for himself. He enjoys "the quiet, spontaneous flow of the days," doing what he wants to do and delighting in the discovery of a relationship with another person.

"I can only describe my new life as a rebirth, a new existence which my years in the monastery prepared me for," he said. "I feel as though I have been reborn with the wisdom of a mature man.

"Shaw said it was a shame that youth was wasted on the young; well, I have beat that," he added smiling. Everson finds himself reverting to many of his youthful interests, such as Indians and birds. "Did you know that gulls only winter here," he said eagerly as we walked on the beach. "I just found that out; I am finding out so many new things."

He puts his arms around his wife. "The life of the senses, the embrace of another person, has a terrific authenticity which no amount of asceticism can match. Recovering this embrace, this delicacy and suavity of man's nature, has been a great liberation to me."

He looked for a moment at the ocean. "It has been worth everything," he said decisively.

Later, on the beach, Everson laughed and hugged his wife, the hearty, spontaneous laugh of a happy man.

Drainage Speedup Is Urged

The Bel Aire Flood Control Zone Advisory Board wants the county to continue master planning for $580,000 in drainage improvements to the flood-plagued area, despite a recommendation that funds for the work be accumulated first.

Charles E. Murphy, county flood control engineer, said the board asked the county Wednesday night to "pursue the master plan to full completion." The plan, now in the preliminary stages, calls for modification of drainage systems, including construction of two pump stations and two concrete channels.

"We had recommended that they not pursue the master plan further in order to collect reserves first," Murphy said. He added that the board was told it could accumulate $50,000 in reserves toward the projects in the coming fiscal year, but would have to raise the district tax rate from the present 8.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation to the maximum of $1.

Murphy said the board asked staff to investigate financing of the improvements through bonds or federal funds.

Pending that, the board postponed further consideration of the proposed 1971 fiscal budget of $52,500 until 8 p.m. April 8 at Bel Aire School.

Possible annexation of the Strawberry Circle area to the zone also was discussed, Murphy said, but residents of the area asked for a delay so cost estimates of drainage work could be obtained.

Two Nuclear Devices Detonated In Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Two nuclear test shots described by the Atomic Energy Commission as low range were detonated Friday under the desert floor at the Nevada Test Site, 65 miles northwest of here.

No radiation was released by either of the Defense Department tests, the AEC said.

Ferry Cuts Order Called 'Blackmail'

A sharp cutback in the Golden Gate Bridge District's ferry service, ordered by the company from which the ferry is chartered, was termed "blackmail" today by Supervisor Michael Wornum.

Albert D. Elledge, president of Harbor Carriers, as reported yesterday by the Independent-Journal, has demanded that the bridge district cut out all weekend and midday weekday service, or face cancellation of the charter.

Elledge accused the district, which chartered a vessel from his firm after it was idled by a strike, of being "in direct competition with this firm."

But Wornum told the Independent-Journal that Elledge "is going to cause the very thing he fears. The bridge district has no option now but to go out and buy its own boat and perform a needed public service."

Wornum, accusing Elledge of a "public-be-damned attitude," said he "is trying to stop us from doing something that is vitally needed that he is not in a position to do."

Wornum said he would push the Marin Transit District, in its meeting at 9 a.m. Tuesday in the Civic Center, to ask the bridge district to buy its own boat "as soon as possible."

A member of the bridge board, Wornum said he will take up such a purchase before the board when it meets next Friday at 10 a.m. in district offices at the toll plaza.

Once the district has its own ferryboat, Wornum said, "we're not liable to this sort of blackmail. The bridge board has proved there is a definite market for water transportation between Tiburon and San Francisco, and therefore it makes absolute sense to have our own equipment that we control."

Wornum said "it's understood there is a possibility there may be an ex-Coronado ferry available" in Southern California.

Wornum said he also would appeal to Fred Zelinsky, who, he said, owns the Tiburon ferry dock controlled by Harbor Carriers, to provide for district use of the dock if it gets its own boat. There should be no difficulty in assuring district use of a San Francisco dock, given San Francisco's eagerness to have the ferry service, he said.

21-Year-Old Suspect In Robbery Case

Albert Gibson, 21, of 189 Drake Avenue, Marin City, was booked at Marin County Jail today on suspicion of robbery after he reportedly strong-armed a hitchhiker out of his money, Corte Madera police reported.

Gibson was placed under citizen's arrest by Scott L. Roberts of 742 Applebery Drive, Marinwood, his alleged victim.

Roberts told police he hitchhiked from Sausalito to Corte Madera with Gibson and a girl at approximately 4 a.m. The girl got out at the Hyatt House restaurant to buy food, Roberts said, and Gibson then drove him several blocks away and demanded his money.

Roberts said Gibson took 15 to $30 from his billfold, then drove off. Roberts called police from a friend's house and police found Gibson and the girl at the restaurant. The girl was not charged.

Gibson was held at Marin County Jail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Probation In Theft

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday placed Andrew Lawrence Stitch, 18, of San Rafael on two years probation, ordered him to jail for 10 days and fined him $350 for stealing a guitar from a San Rafael music store on May 21, 1969.

Bolinas Refuge Harbor Boosted

The California Marine Parks and Harbors Association, has given Bolinas Harbor top priority as a potential harbor of refuge that should be developed.

The association recently adopted its priority list of five harbors for development and will make its recommendations to the state Department of Navigation and Ocean Development and Army Corps of Engineers, reported Barnard F. Seligman of San Anselmo, first vice president of the association.

Bolinas was given priority because of the large number of boats in the area it could shelter, he said.

Amending Of Forest Rules To Be Eyed

The Redwood District Forest Practices Committee will hold a hearing to consider amending the Redwood District Forest Practices Rules at 9 a.m. March 19 in the board of supervisors chambers at Government Center, Santa Cruz.

Another hearing will be held at 9 a.m. April 2 in the Veterans Memorial Building in Redwood City.

Committee Chairman A. H. Merrill said the hearings were prompted by a meeting of the committee Feb. 9 at which Marin County Deputy Counsel Joseph A. Forest charged that the rules lacked teeth and were "woefully inadequate."

Forest said that presently the rules must be approved by two-thirds of the private timber owners within the district. He called this "one of the most outrageous charades promulgated by any industry in the country."

Teen Driver Hurt In Auto Collision

Michael M. Fedoroff, 17, of 36 Elena Circle, San Rafael, was treated yesterday at Marin General Hospital for a bruised forehead sustained when his car collided with another near his home, police reported today.

The accident occurred at 5:35 p.m. on Arias Street near Elena Circle, police said. Driver of the other car, Kenneth H. Madderra, 36, of 631 Tarragon Drive was not injured in the collision, according to police.

Two Mobs, Two Places —But No Real Difference

In a suburb of Santa Barbara, Calif., a mob of 1,500 young people, mostly university students, rioted in the streets, burned down a bank building, firebombed police cars and battled with sheriff's officers.

Many people were highly incensed, and rightly so, at this mob violence.

A few days later, in Lamar, S. C., a mob of 150 white adults overturned two school buses loaded with Negro high school students, tried to attack the children, and battled with law enforcement officers.

Many people were highly incensed, and rightly so, at this mob violence.

STRANGELY ENOUGH, some of the people who were most incensed about the student rioting in Santa Barbara were not quite so perturbed over the school bus attack in South Carolina. They didn't condone it, but they tried to explain it away: "The federal government has no business forcing parents to have their children bused to other schools. The people shouldn't have gone so far, but you can understand how they felt."

Equally strangely, some of the people who exploded with anger over the Lamar, S. C., mob's action did not feel blame should be attached to the rioting students (and dropouts) in Santa Barbara. They didn't condone it, but they tried to explain it away: "Idealistic young people cannot be blamed for rebelling against all the hypocrisy they see around them, the draft, the Vietnam war, the way we have treated the Negroes. They shouldn't have gone so far, but you can understand how they felt."

THERE IS NO DIFFERENCE between the mob in Santa Barbara and the mob in Lamar, S. C.

Both defied law and authority simply because they felt it affected them adversely.

As the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence, headed by Milton S. Eisenhower, commented in its report last December: "The law cannot distinguish between the consciences of saints and sinners."

The action of students (and non-student "sympathizers") who resort to violence on the pretext of combatting "the real violence" of government and society is no more to be condoned than the action of white supremacists who resort to violence on the pretext of combatting the arbitrary rulings of "northern liberals who are trying to dictate to us and change our way of life."

BOTH THINK they are morally right. Both are morally and legally wrong.

Both invite disaster in one or the other of two forms: anarchy, in which every man must go constantly armed and watchful for the simple reason that there is no longer a curb on the conduct of his violent neighbors, or the tyranny of a dictatorship that jails or kills all those who dare to dissent or even to think for themselves.

As the Eisenhower Commission succinctly put it:

"Violators must ponder the fact that once they have weakened their judicial system, the very ends they sought to attain — and may have attained — cannot be preserved."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Water Pollution Laid To Developers

We note that the City of San Rafael has now been cited by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board as one of the major polluters of the Bay Waters. What a terrible reputation for the residents and administrators of a city located in one of nature's true garden spots. It is now apparent that if our administration is unable, either because of incompetence or because of negligence, to cope with the pollution problem, then an outside agency will step in to direct that proper steps be taken or that new construction be halted.

It appears that this polluting of the bay waters has been called to the attention of the city some time ago. Yet, while they knew or should have known of it, the planning commission and the city council, at the urging of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce and real estate interests, has been approving high density dwelling projects, even in areas in which such projects have no proper place and even knowing that it would further aggravate the water pollution.

An excellent example of this is 237 Picnic Avenue, a high density dwelling approved by the planning commission and the city council, and representing a victory of the real estate interests and the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce over the vigorous and almost unanimous opposition of the residents of Picnic Valley. It would be well for all those who supported the project to visit that area and see for themselves the monstrous scar upon the area and upon San Rafael which they helped to create—a daily reminder to the residents of San Rafael to be on guard against the tactics of the special interests who would sacrifice the environment for their financial gain. . .

San Rafael Riot Pictured In Sydney

I thought you might be interested in the enclosed picture from a paper in Sydney (Australia). A friend of mine who visited us last year, and lives in Australia, sent it to me.

I witnessed part of the demonstration and it was hard to believe that this was San Rafael.

I was disappointed when I heard that you would not publish that Saturday but I could understand under the circumstances.

Upon going outside Sunday morning, it was a great surprise to pick up a copy of the "Sunday" I-J. I feel that this effort on your part indicates that you are not going to bow down. Good luck.

Santa Barbara Related To Watts

After Watts signaled the beginning of race riots in all too many of our cities, many of us began reading accounts of life in the ghettos and of Negro history in order to find out why our black fellow citizens had resorted to mob violence.

For those who believe, with the I-J editorialist of March 2, that the Santa Barbara student riots and others like them pose a question only of law and order, some recommended reading is "Our Depleted Society" by Seymour Melman, a Columbia University professor of industrial engineering. It is an analysis of what is happening in our country, where for the last 10 years the chief business of our government has been war or the preparation of war, rather than taking care of our people and our land.

The race riots were born of desperation, present and historical. Consider what our young people have seen.

Their political awareness began with the assassination of President Kennedy. They watched a crashing majority vote against the Vietnam escalation policies of Goldwater turned into a betrayal by President Johnson. Their work for Senator McCarthy and Robert Kennedy in the last presidential election ended with another Kennedy assassination and with two presidential nominating conventions which were each, in their separate ways, a farce. . .

The student violence is tragic. So is the frightening polarization of viewpoints in our country. So is the bland disregard of our national government for the needs of our people and our land, while our money and our talent are drawn off to the sterile, parasitic demands of an ever-growing war machine.

Support Of Fairfax Schools Appreciated

The board of trustees have asked me to express to you their deep appreciation for your support in the successful tax increase election last month. The board and the staff have had many occasions to be thankful to you, Mr. Bryce Anderson, and other members of your staff for their interest in education in general and for their concern for the problems faced by the local districts.

The financial problems of the Fairfax School District are eased as a result of the election, but the fiscal basis of education in California still presents a formidable problem that can only be solved by the state legislature in a complete revamping of the financial structure of education.

May I add my personal thanks to all of you at the Independent Journal for your continuing interest in the district and for helping us inform the community regarding items of interest and importance?

Seen Any Wildlife Lately?

The week of March 15-21 has been proclaimed National Wildlife Week by the National Wildlife Federation. The idea is to remind everyone "that wildlife is a delicate resource which man must take care of, if for no other reason, than the condition of wildlife is his best barometer of a healthy environment."

Well, Marin must have a healthy environment because during the past week we have seen five raccoons, four deer, three hippies, two mourning cloak butterflies and innumerable small birds. We also smelled a skunk and heard an owl.

The theme of the week is, "Seen any wildlife lately?" Might give it a little thought. Besides being a barometer, an abundance of wildlife makes life infinitely more interesting.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Alquist Bill Would Remove Access From Proposed Resort

By HENRY C. MAC ARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) — Although it's sort of an unwritten rule that legislation pertaining to matters before the courts be deferred until the courts act, this is not so in the case of the development of Mineral King, proposed ski area and mountain recreation spot east of Tulare.

Sen. Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose, introduced a bill this week to delete Route 276 from the state highway system. This is the route from Three Rivers, Tulare County, to Mineral King.

THE LEGISLATURE in 1965 put the route in the state highway system, with the ultimate plan of expending some $26 million developing the highway. Developed, it would have provided easy access to the high Sierra, and to the recreational facilities contemplated by the Disney corporation.

So far, the state Highway Commission has allocated $250,000 for right-of-way acquisition, none of which has been spent, pending the outcome of a case in federal court in which the Sierra Club is plaintiff. The case is based on keeping the proposed highway from crossing a section of Sequoia National Park.

Should the legislature direct the elimination of the Three Rivers Road as a state highway, most of the funds directed to the Mineral King area would be re-allocated to highways in Southern California, according to a recent commission action.

IN OFFERING the bill, SB 496, Senator Alquist said indicated "freeways and parking lots are not the solution to every transportation problem, especially in our dwindling areas of great natural beauty such as Mineral King bowl."

However, the Disney corporation long ago solved the parking problem in the area by designating a space and providing rail facilities from parking area to village in its proposed plans.

Alquist also said that state expenditure for a road to benefit a private developer "cannot be justified in view of the critical need for funds to improve dangerous stretches of existing state roads."

All of which is rather hypocritical, in view of the fact that his action in introducing the bill appears to be merely another step to aid the Sierra Club close off the area for public use and save it for the use of the Sierra Club.

Nation Looks To Nixon In Vain For Leadership On Integration

By ROSCOE AND GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON—There is a perilous vacuum of leadership on the dead-end confusion which public school integration has reached.

Congress is lunging in opposite directions and getting nowhere. Advocates of integration are divided and dismayed. Opponents are heartened but uncertain. Most people are perplexed because they see a worthy goal apparently fading and faltering.

HERE IS THE MOMENT when leadership is most needed.

Only the President can give it.

He is not giving it.

Mr. Nixon has lowered his voice so low it can't be heard.

He cannot afford to remain indecisively on the sidelines for long.

IN FAILING to speak out Richard Nixon is departing from his own concept of the role of the President.

"America needs presidential leadership," he said in one of his finest campaign speeches, "that can establish a firm focus, and offer a way out of a time fo towering uncertainty. Only the President can hold out a vision of the future and rally the people behind it."

On NBC's "Meet the Press" a reporter remarked, "There is a lot of confusion about President Nixon's position on integration," and asked Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga.: "What do you think his position is."

Senator Talmadge replied frankly: "I don't know, I wish I did know."

Most of the nation would like to know and would be greatly aided by knowing.

SINCE THE NATION doesn't know where the President stands, this means that Mr. Nixon is not helping to "establish a firm focus" on what to do next about school integration, is not "offering a way out of towering uncertainty" and is not acting to "rally the people" behind any clear course of action.

It isn't easy—nowhere near as easy as some of the President's quick-on-the draw critics pretend. Sen. Walter F. Mondale (D-Minn.), an earnest integrationist, said as much when he was asked what the federal government should do to eliminate de facto segregation which prevails widely in both North and South because of housing patterns. Senator Mondale said candidly: "I don't know the answers."

But just because there are no easy answers ,this doesn't mean the President can safely withold his leadership. It is needed especially now because the long, winding road to school integration has reached, at least temporarily, a blind alley with no reliable signs pointing the way out.

RICHARD NIXON'S voice is as needed today as it was when by speaking out on Vietnam he rallied the country behind his peace plan.

It is, we believe, national uncertainty, not national unwillingness, which is stalemating integration.

We are entering a harder phase of the problem because we're coming face to face nationwide with segregated schools which do not result from segregationist law. They result from housing patterns which come from poverty, not the law.

Much headway has been made in the South to erase segregationist laws which required segregationist schools. Rarely were there such laws elsewhere in the nation. Now we confront de facto segregated schools in North and South alike.

WE DON'T HAVE to accept all de facto segregation as fixed forever. Not all busing is bad or unworkable. The South didn't find busing unworkable when it was used so long to maintain de jure segregated schools. But when the road to integration impairs education, we need to put quality education for all ahead of integration for its own sake.

The President's voice should not be muted or muffled on these crucial matters at this difficult juncture.

"The days of a passive presidency," Nixon has said, "belonged to a simpler past. . .He must articulate the nation's values, define its goals and marshall its will."

The nation waits for him to do so.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Congress Speeds Fund Bills To Avoid Long Session

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

Washington — Mindful of the embarrassing legislative delays which tarnished the congressional image last year, Democratic leaders are determined to avoid a repeat performance in this election year.

Leaders in the House and Senate have met privately to iron out some of last year's problems. They are quite serious about meeting the target of adjournment by Labor Day — and without any post-election return to the Capitol.

Republican leaders have participated in several of the speed-up meetings and have joined in the early-adjournment drive. Even if the Labor Day goal proves to be a bit elusive, there is still a good chance that Congress will be able to close up shop in the early autumn.

IN THE LEADERSHIP conferences special attention has been given to expeditious handling of the annual appropriations bills. (One of those, left over from last year, is still in the legislative mill.)

In that connection, Speaker John W. McCormack and Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee, have told Senate leaders that they will put on the heat to get all the money bills approved and to the Senate by early June.

House and Senate Leaders in both parties have also agreed to prod chairmen of the regular legislative committees so that approved authorization bills will be available in time to serve as guides for the appropriation process.

THE SPEED-UP campaign was very much in evidence last week when Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird testified behind closed doors for combined Senate Armed Services and Appropriations committees.

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., announced that the Armed Services Committee plans to act as quickly as possible on the defense authorization bill. Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chimed in with a pledge of expeditious handling for the subsequent defense money bill.

Those bills — and especially the authorization bill — are among the major hurdles for Congress in its speed-up drive. Last year the Senate dawdled for a couple of months before approving the authorization for Pentagon procurement, research and development.

Some participants in last year's debates are saying that the fight could be even more complex this time, what with the administration shifting its justification for ABM expenditures to a concern for the strategic threat of Communist China. That shift has already cost Mr. Nixon some support in the Senate, where the ABM prevailed last year by a single vote.

Statistics reflect the legislative speed-up. In the first three weeks of the present congressional session the Senate had 35 "yea" and "nay" votes. Last year it took nearly six months to reach that roll call total.

Stinson Beach Fire Chief In Vain Seeks Volunteers

Not even one Stinson Beach resident has responded to volunteer Fire Chief George H. White's latest plea for more volunteer firemen in the wake of a $100,000 house fire last week which caught all but two volunteers out of town.

The department has 12 firemen, most holding down other full-time jobs, to protect Stinson Beach's approximately 350 homes. At least 50 volunteers are needed, according to White, to insure that a sufficient number of trained firemen are available in case of emergency.

White has been seeking more men since he became chief last November. There have been few takers. The most frequent excuse given is lack of time, although the department holds only two drills of two hours each month.

THE CHIEF is willing to bend over backward to make it easy for a person to join the department. Anyone who can't show up for regular meetings can have private lessons (at his convenience) in the use of fire-fighting equipment.

White said most persons can learn the essential skills in about 12 hours of training. He would be happy if enough residents were willing to spend only the amount of time needed to learn to operate the department's vehicles and equipment. Even if they did not show up for future drills, these persons could provide essential assistance in an emergency. A person is much more valuable in battling a fire after attending a few practice sessions, according to White.

Yet Stinson Beach's 800-900 year-around residents appear uninterested in protecting their homes and possessions from fire damage and destruction.

It can only be hoped that residents who lose their homes to fire during the next few years because of a lack of volunteer firemen will be as complacent.

SAUSALITO SCHOOL district board members, veterans of countless emotion-charged meetings on district problems, have taken to keeping a good-sized first aid kit on the table during board sessions. With the excitement (pro and con) over the grand jury's recent report on the district and a recall movement against two trustees gathering steam, it seems like a sound idea.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

'Conservative' And 'Conservation' - They're Not So Far Apart

Fusselman

Last week a friend telephoned to ask if I had seen or read the current issue of a weekly paper. I said no, so a copy was mailed to me.

The article he referred to caused me to go to my Funk and Wagnalls to see if I could find the answer to a question I have been asking, in this column, time and again. What is a conservative and what is a conservationist?

I found a whole bag full of splintered definitions, but the following seemed to be the fundamental or basic explanation:

"Conserve; to keep from loss, decay, or injury: supervise and protect, preserve."

"Conservation; the act of keeping or protecting, from loss or injury as the conservation of health, or of social order."

"Conservatism; conservative principles, as in criticism—disposition to be conservative."

IN DISCUSSING the years of the past decade, this was said of 1964: "Also of great significance was the defeat of Supervisor William D. Fusselman. Fusselman had served on the board for 22 years and gave it its greatest weight on the conservative side. (That weight business could have been a pun, no?) He might have been given the title of the great dissenter as he clung persistently to established principles and eschewed innovative action." (Without due process, might I add.)

Well, my thanks to the lady who is alleged to have written the story. It also went on "As of Jan. 1, 1965 the board consisted of Kettenhofen (Ernest), Storer (Tom), Peter Behr, Byron Leydecker and veteran William Gnoss, producing a board dominated by the liberal view." (Again may I add: It has been and is a costly "noble experiment" as McInnis would say.)

It was also stated that "Bruce stages a strong comeback. . . Henceforth he has supervisorial responsibility over all county department heads, elective or appointed on matters of concern to the board." (Which would mean everything.)

It continues that he "emerges as the most powerful figure in county government." What ho, supervisors?

THIS "I AM GOING to run this county and don't you ever forget it" fellow has been doing his best to live up to the evaluation of his friend the gal who wrote the article.

Could be that he is just permitting McInnis to speak with the same voice. You know, it's sort of hard to determine.

WELL, THIS "conservative" worked for years with Superior Court Judge Thomas Keating—then Senator Keating—for the acquisition of the Samuel P. Taylor Park. Others took the bows. This "conservative" supported and voted for the Tomales Bay and Stinson Beaches .He made the motion to appropriate $25,000 matching money with the state to buy large acreage on Mount Tamalpais. He voted against a $4,000 purchase of some hillside on Paradise Drive, which is covered with poison oak and has never been used because of that. He voted against a $50,009 purchase of channel rights east of Strawberry on Richardson Bay. (Because we needed the money that year to help take care of the bad and sad situation at the county hospital out Lucas Valley way.)

He voted against the first proposal for acquiring the Point Reyes National Seashore because of the roughshod way the ranchers were being treated. For this I was chastised. An appropriation for Ross Valley flood control, which was scheduled, was put over a couple of years so that I wouldn't receive the credit.

By some I have been branded as being against conservation and have been worked over. What have they gained and what have I lost?

Scouts Set For Conservation Day

Boy Scouts from Marin will gather at Camp Tamarancho, near Fairfax, March 14 for a conservation day progrm.

During the morning session, starting about 9 a.m., representatives of the Sierra Club will talk about the need for conservation and how Scouts can help.

During the afternoon, the scouts will work on conservation projects and there will be a demonstration by the Marin County Fire Department.

Mill Valley Youth Plan Cleanup On Tam

The Mill Valley Youth Commission, planning a massive cleanup of Mount Tamalpais for April 4, has designated Rock Springs, Four Corners and Bootjack as the three major targets for litter pickup.

The commission said groups planning to take part in the cleanup are being assigned specific areas of the mountain.

Is Hanoi Baiting Nixon In Laos?

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — A North Vietnamese drive west and south from the Plain of Jars would pose a fundamental challenge to President Nixon's doctrine of minimum U.S. involvement in Asia.

This view is held by many Americans and Western diplomats in Vientiane as well as by Laotian government officials. However, it is by no means certain that the North Vietnamese will go much farther. They have paused to bring up supplies after sweeping unchecked through the Plain of Jars almost to the Sala Phoukhoune crossroads on the Vientiane-Luang Prabang highway.

One thing has been proved: U.S. air power as employed so far is not enough to stop the North Vietnamese in Laos.

American fighter-bombers fly daily raids in an attempt to cut the roads and slow down the enemy offensive, aided on several occasions by the U.S. B52 bombers.

The B52s for months have been attacking the North Vietnamese traffic to South Vietnam along the Ho Chi Minh trail down eastern Laos, but some diplomats consider use of America's biggest bombers in the Plain of Jars area as an escalation of American military involvement in Laos.

Before the North Vietnamese and their Pathet Lao allies launched their offensive, their prime objective was believed to be the Palin of Jars .The Communist forces held the plain for years and last year pushed west from it to Sala Phoukhoune. Then the North Vietnamese withdrew, leaving the weaker Pathet Lao forces to hold the territory, and Gen. Vang Pao's Meo geurrillas drove them back and took the Plain of Jars.

The North Vietnamese now have an estimated 20,000 troops and better equipment in the area. They are also four months ahead of their timetable last year. This has led many analysts to conclude that the North Vietnamese will try to take Vang Pao's operational headquarters at Long Cheng, his main supply base at Sam Thong and Vang Vieng, 55 miles north of Vientiane.

Veteran observers believe this would seriously threaten the viability of Prince Souvanna Phouma's government, but they also believe that President Nixon can do no more than step up air strikes. The introduction of American ground troops into Laos is thought to be politically unacceptable in the United States, and Prince Souvanna has said he wouldn't ask for them anyway.

American officers here admit that the Laotian army, despite the equipment and training the United States has given it, can never be a match for the North Vietnamese.

The United States also may press Britain and the Soviet Union to heed Souvanna Phouma's call for a new meeting of the 1962 Geneva conference on Laos. But there is no indication Moscow would pay any heed to Washington, or that the North Vietnamese and the Chinese Communists would attend.

Prince Souvanna told a news conference today that U.S. bombing in Laos will stop only when North Vietnamese troops are withdrawn from the country. But he repeated an offer he made earlier to make no opposition to North Vietnamese use of the Ho Chi Minh trail if Hanoi withdraws its troops from northern and central Laos.

Housing Cost Gap Widens For Marin

The soaring cost of homes is driving the middle income families out of Marin County, leaving only the rich and the poor.

This picture of the Marin County housing trend is presented in the latest issue of "Marinfo", an information bulletin published by the Marin County Planning Department.

"The single family housing in Marin has gone up in value faster than the cost of living during the 1960s," the bulletin reported. "The rising cost of housing is driving both the low and middle income family out of the single family market. . .The lower incomes are probably having to shift to apartments and less adequate homes, while the middle income families seem to be going out of Marin entirely."

Drastic changes in the prices of homes are shown in a table that compares completed tract homes in 1964 with 1968. In 1964, low-priced (under $20,000) comprised 13 per cent; medium ($20,000 to $35,000) 80 per cent; and high (over $35,000) 7 per cent. In 1968, there were none in the low category, 31 per cent were medium and 69 per cent high.

Students Gather Indian Supplies

San Rafael High School Students have organized an Alcatraz Supply Depot and are soliciting donations to aid the Indians on Alcatraz, according to Lynn Bagley, student worker at the center.

The depot will be open Monday through Saturday through March 16 at 536 Third Street, San Rafael.

The drive has netted 20 boxes of supplies for the Indians thus far, Miss Bagley said.

Especially needed are furniture, bedding, butane stoves, medical supplies, canned food, firewood and garden tools. A pickup service is availabe on weekends to go directly to Marin County homes for large donations, she said.

Womack Opener

Official opening of the Womack for Supervisor headquarters will be held at 8 p.m. Monday at 1409 Grant Avenue, according to publicity chairman Peg Coady. There will be a flag ceremony, invocation and refreshments.

Assembly Demos Score Victory On Conflict Of Interest Law

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Republicans, defeated in their first attempt to revise the state's conflict of interest law, are preparing for a showdown next week.

House Democrats balked Thursday at supporting the new regulations authored by Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy.

Monagan is pressing for urgent passage of his measure which would supersede the current law authored last year by Assembly Democratic leader Jess Unruh, a candidate for governor.

While Republicans solidly supported Monagan's plan, Democrats lined up behind 11 toughening amendments authored by Unruh.

The Democratic leader charged Monagan's bill "socks it to the little guy but lets the big guy alone." He said the "economic snobs and intellectual snobs" who now control local government would be the only beneficiaries of Monagan's bill.

A key section of the Unruh Act which requires all public officials to list the specific amounts of all investments in state-regulated firms exceeding $10,000 has caused several local officials to threaten to resign.

Monagan's bill would require listing of investments over $1,000 but would not require specific amounts.

His measure also only would require that school board members, planning commissioners, nonsalaried persons and other lower echelon officials list investments in enterprises their agencies regulated.

Unruh tried to insert a requirement that the exact dollar amount of investment be disclosed, and that all enterprises regulated by any state or local agency be listed. But he was rebuffed on a straight partyline vote.

The Assembly voted unanimously to include in the Monagan bill a requirement that politicians must disclose any campaign contribution within 30 days after it is received if the donation is made more than six months before an election.

Senate leader Jack Schrade, R-San Diego, is being investigated by three district attorneys for accepting a $5,000 campaign contribution three years before his next election. He voted for a bill sponsored by the contributor.

First Attempt At Curbing Campaign Spending Falters

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill aimed at curbing "cash register politics" by fixing a limit on how much a candidate for the legislature can spend to campaign stumbled at its hurdle Thursday.

The Assembly Elections and Reapportionment Committee instructed Assemblyman Ken MacDonald, D-Ojai, to draft amendments and reset his bill for another hearing March 20.

The measure would restrict campaign expenditures by legislative candidates to the lawmaker's annual salary times the years of the term. This would be about $38,000 for assemblymen and $76,000 for senators.

The cost of campaigning has skyrocketed. One lawmaker said recently that $100,000 campaigns are becoming "commonplace."

MacDonald, conceding the measure would be "difficult if not impossible to police," told the committee "it would act as a deterrent against those who with vast sums of money would move in and purchase an election."

It would not apply to legislative elections this year but MacDonald said "hopefully in the future it would cause somebody to be a little bit more cautious about a cash register-type election."

He said the bill would encourage candidates "not to sell themselves to raise the kind of money that seems to be the order of the day" to get elected.

The bill drew support from Assemblyman Leo T. McCarthy, D-San Francisco, who termed the cost of campaigning for the legislature "astronomical."

But Assemblyman George Milias, R-Gilroy, voiced concern that the bill would "tend to freeze incumbents in office" by virtue of organizations being more willing to contribute to an incumbent's campaign than that of an officeseeker.

Study Asked On Mercury Level In Food

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Public Health Department should find out how much mercury it takes to make food dangerous, says Sen. John A. Nejedly.

He introduced a resolution Thursday calling for a public health department study of the levels of mercury in food destined for consumption by man and animals.

Nejedly's action comes after a report by Eldridge G. Hunt, chief of the fish and game department's wildlife management branch that a measurement of mercury traces in pheasants recently at Tulelake was at a level of "public health concern."

Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, who has been a leader in attempts to restrict pesticides which persist in the environment, said the mercury often remains after use as a fungicide on grains.

Last month, the State Agriculture Department announced new regulations designed to cut down exposure to mercury on farms.

Homeowners To Clean Fire Trails

Plans for cleaning up neighborhood fire trails tomorrow were announced last night at the Sleepy Hollow Homes Association meeting.

Volunteers are to meet at 9 a.m. at the clubhouse, Mrs. Robin Robinson reported. Workers and trucks are needed ,she said. The volunteers will be assisted by Boy Scout Troop 50.

Gerald Patten, landscape and environmental committee chairman, is in charge of the project. He will be assisted by Maurice Charlat and W. Robert Bogenrief.

The board will hold a special meeting Thursday at 3 p.m. in the clubhouse to discuss goals for 1970, Mrs. Robinson said.

Eskimos Host Canada's Chief

RANKIN INLET, N.W.T. (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau was given a reception in a big igloo when he stopped here on his six-day tour of central Arctic communities.

Trudeau stayed three hours in this mainly Eskimo community of about 500 in the North West Territories and attended part of a class in the Eskimo language.

Instructor Ouke Isaluk said the prime minister succeeded in learning one word: tavvauvus, meaning goodbye.

Two Studies On Consumer Fraud Going

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan says he has launched studies into two areas of consumer protection — improving consumer education in public schools and improving coordination of state and local efforts to crack down on consumer fraud.

The two points were listed prominently in Reagan's long-promised consumer protection message, delivered Thursday to the legislature and, by television, to the people.

Reagan also endorsed eight specific bills which are either before the legislature already or being drafted. He said they are needed to improve consumer protection and others will be proposed later.

The eight bills include such measures as a prohibition on the sale of confidential information by tax consultant firms; minimum tread standards for all tires, new and used; and a measure to prevent insurance companies from canceling property insurance unless the policy holder has actually broken the contract.

Others would increase penalties for doctors, dentists, and other health care professionals who order unneeded treatments; put tighter sanitation standards on food stores; guarantee accounts with industrial loan companies, and reorganize the state consumer affairs agencies into one Department of Consumer Affairs.

Reagan said his program was designed to protect both the consumer and the honest businessman "from the unscrupulous entreprenur."

"The policy of this administration," said Reagan, "is that government does have a proper, indeed vital, role to play in looking out for the consumer interests of private citizens so long as this does not interfere with, or impair, the legitimate, balanced workings of our competitive free enterprise system."

Hitchhiker Tells Criminal Assault

A 21-year-old Marin City hitchhiker told sheriff's deputies that she was raped Wednesday night by a man who gave her a ride on Bridgeway in Sausalito, deputies reported today.

The woman said she told the man she wanted to go to Gate 6 at Waldo Point but he did not let her go there. After she refused to have sexual intercourse with him for $40, he grabbed her by the hair and told her to be quiet, she said.

The attacker took her to a hill near San Rafael and raped her, she said and then returned her to Marin City.

She described the rapist as a white man in his 30s about 5 feet nine inches tall.

Marijuana Trial Jury Deadlocks

A Marin Superior Court jury yesterday deliberated for more than five hours before reporting that it could not come to a decision as to whether John Conners Apostoli, 28, of San Rafael was guilty of marijuana possession.

Apostoli was accused of possessing one pot cigarette when arrested Feb. 9, 1969, when he refused to identify himself to police who questioned him while he was hitchhiking on Bridgeway in Sausalito.

Apostoli was ordered to return to court March 16 for setting of a new trial date.

Principal's Resignation Cause Given

James I. Jueston said today he submitted his resignation as principal of Granada School in Reed School District because the district has abandoned its goals and objectives.

"I am resigning effective June 30 because of my feeling that the district goals and objectives under which I accepted employment in 1967 are no longer those accepted as guidelines for the district without having been replaced by others upon which to base educational decisions," said Justeson.

The principal submitted his resignation Tuesday night. It was not mentioned during a board meeting that night at which a parent complaint against Justeson was aired.

Justeson said that the resignation had no connection with the complaint, which concerned alleged pressure to sign forms saying parents do not want their children to receive letter-grade report cards.

Japan Moving Soldiers' Bones

TOKYO (AP) — The remains of 1,277 Japanese soldiers who died on the Pacific island of Iwo Jima in World War II were brought back to Japan today by a group of government officials.

The remains of 1,943 Japanese soldiers had been brought back in July 1969 from the island, about 660 miles south of Tokyo, scene of one of the bloodiest battles of the war. About 20,000 Japanese soldiers were believed to have died in the battle in February and March 1945, while the United States lost 4,590 servicemen.

The United States returned the Bonin Islands, which include Iwo Jima, to Japan in 1968. Government officials said they plan to end a third mission to the island sometime this year for additional bodies.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Infant's First Shoes Should Be Soft-Soled Moccasin Type

An infant doesn't need shoes until he starts to walk. His first pair should be the soft-soled moccasin type so long as walking is confined to carpeted floors. Later, when the feet need protection against the pressure of hard floors and pavements, a thicker sole is desirable. Baby shoes should, however be pliable, rather than stiff, to allow full movements of the foot. Nothing should impede the development of the supportive muscles.

The child's shoes should be made of soft leather with a flexible shank and a last that is straight or slightly swung in. The big toe should be thumb's width from the end of the shoe when the child is standing. The shoe is wide enough if some of the leather at the forefront can be pinched between the fingers. It is well to remember that as junior grows, so do his feet.

NEVER JUDGE the appearance of the infant's foot by adult standards. Fat pads on the bottom suggest flat feet. The fat and the soft, pliable muscles obliterate anything that resembles a longitudinal arch. The foot may also be slightly inverted.

Gross abnormalities such as clubfoot and rotary defects should be treated promptly. The parents should also be on the lookout for deviations as the child grows. Improper sitting postures assumed by many children may strain the ligaments of the knee joints causing knock-knees, bowlegs, pigiontoes, and flat feet.

NOW AND then the child complains of foot pain or fatigue after play. If no abnormality is found, strain is the culprit. The muscles should be strengthened through exercise. Young children should walk tiptoe for five to ten minutes; older youngsters are helped by standing pigiontoed with the weight thrown on the outside of the foot for the same period of time. Picking up marbles with the toes also helps. Children with weak foot muscles do not need arch supports if the feet are otherwise normal.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

TEEN-AGE LETHARGY

Mrs. P. T. writes: It takes me one hour to get my 19-year-old son out of bed even though I upull all the bedding off him pull all the bedding on the floor. I've even resorted to throwing water on him. He is the picture of health. Do you think there is something wrong with him?

REPLY

No. It's just his age. Perhpas life is dull and he needs something to wake up to. When does he go to bed?

NOCTURNAL GRINDER

A reader writes: My husband grinds his teeth at night. How can his teeth at night. How can this habit be discouraged?

REPLY

Your dentist can supply him with a Hawley retainer or plastic splint with fits into the mouth and prevents the jaws from coming together. This should be done without delay, because grinding the teeth is one cause of pyorrhea, which in turn leads to tooth loss.

PRESCRIPTION REFILL

M. O. writes: If a person moves from one state to another, can have a prescription refilled without difficulty?

REPLY

State laws differ along this line. Uusally a nonnarcotic prescription will be refilled as a courtesy.

FLATFOOTED BABIES

Mrs. T. S. writes: Are all infants born with flat feet?

REPLY

Yes, because the arches do not strengthen until the tot starts walking.

Rock 'n Roll Radio's Reply To TV Inroads

By PAUL M. HIRSCH

Nation News Service

Rock and roll radio emerged in the Fifties as part of the radio industry's confused response to the onslaught of TV.

Radio was forced to find, and create, new audience markets at TV was cutting into its "lowest common denominator" audience.

Suddenly, American youth was given a medium "all its own" as the accidental by-product of a revolution in communications technology.

Stunned parents and veteran radio men considered screaming Top 40 radio a vulgar intrusion into their personal and professional lives. They did not fully comprehend that old-time radio was very dead. But Top 40 rock was only the beginning.

It kicked off a much broader trend toward specialty programming of all types—each directed ming of all types—each directed at a limited audience. This new "subcultural programming" slices the total audience into homogenous, marketable parts.

Thus: all-news, all-country, all-Top 40, all-soul and all-'underground' stations are each broadcasting the same news, or views, or music, 24 hours a day.

The rock music explosion, however, can be attributed only in part to the impact of television on the radio industry.

The "youth market" was there long before radio stations began catering to specialty audiences. It was smaller a generation or two ago, and relatively poorer. But young people lined up for hours in advance to hear Benny Goodman and Frank Sinatra, to mob them on stage, and to be with other young people.

Three notable changes characterize today's youth from those of earlier periods.

First, there are now about 10 million more Americans between the ages of 15 and 26 than there were 20 years ago.

Second, they are wealthier than any previous generation of American youth. Expenditures of teen-agers alone have more than doubled since 1959, from $10 billion to more than $20 billion.

Third, they take for granted much of the technology which still impresses their parents and teachers.

Until the middle Fifties, 75 per cent of all domestic hit records were produced and distributed by four record companies. They produced few rhythm-and-blues records, little progressive jazz or rock and roll.

"Specialty" labels such as Atlantic, King and Blue Note won these subcultural markets by default.

Under these circumstances, subcultural markets remained underdeveloped, with information passed largely by word of mouth. The media presented the dominant culture.

America's youth became numerous and prosperous at just about the time when radio was forced into those subcultural markets. Top 40 programming took the four major record companies by surprise. Long used to producing for the mainstream, they were unable and, at first, unwilling to plunge into subcultural marketing. The vacuum was filled by numerous small entrepreneurs, eager to enter the hit-record sweepstakes.

A 45 rpm single costs only several hundred dollars to record and manufacture, and the prospect of huge returns on such small investment was irresistible.

One the sale of rock records began to cut into the previously stable markets of the big four, remedial action was begun. The big companies simply bought up the enterprising little ones—which is how, for example, Elvis Presley became associated with RCA records.

But the major lables were clearly on the run, and mainly reacting. The steady increase in the recording freedom allowed musicians in their dealing with record companies can be traced back to pressures upon the big four to maintain sales leadership and to strengthen their competitive position in the rock and roll field. Singers and musicians were for the first time allowed a major say as to which songs should be recorded.

In spite of its apparent turmoil, including the payola scandals of 1958, the record industry experienced no major crisis after the advent of rock. Volume sales have increased for most major firms at such a phenomenal rate that it has been possible for a company's profits to rise at the same time that its share of the market decreased. Gross sales have climbed from $99 million in 1945 to more than $1 billion in 1968.

Drifters Are Put Into Bay, Along Coast

The Office of Marine Geology of the U.S. Geographical Survey has released several thousand plastic seabed drifters in San Francisco Bay and along the coast from Cape Mendocino to Big Sur in an effort to determine near-bottom water circulation.

The drifters consist of a yellow perforated disc seven inches in diameter with a red stem 21 inches long and a brass weight on the lower end. They sink and are carried along by currents near the bottom.

A 50-cent reward is offered to persons who find the drifters and send their address, the drifter serial number, and the exact time and location of recovery to the Office of Marin Geology.

TV REVIEW

Star Power Has Been Missing Key

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—One of the reasons educational television has failed to arouse much excitement among viewers is its lack of star power.

One of the reasons for the lack of star power is that educational video has failed to establish a real rapport with the Hollywood community and exploit it.

One of the reasons for this failure is that money is the usual emotional currency with which to establish a real rapport, not to mention "meaningful relationships," in Hollywood. And money is usually what educational television has very little of.

I don't know whether the veteran producer Lewis Freedman can change this situation to a great degree. But he's going to have something of a shot at it.

Freedman has become executive producer of what is called the Hollywood Television Theater which is underwritten by a grant from the Ford Foundation to KCET, the educational television station in Los Angeles. And production will begin immediately.

The first result is that on May 14, the Hollywood Television Theater's first production, "The Andersonville Trial," directed by George C. Scott, is scheduled to be broadcast for two-and-a-half hours, in color, on more than 150 noncommercial stations of the public broadcasting service network. In prime time, of course.

Scott, naturally, is best known as an actor, his most recent acclaim coming for his stupendous performance in the movie "Patton." But he also directed several Broadway plays.

"The Andersonville Trial," by the way, is Scott's first video directing assignment. The play dramatizes the trial of an Army captain in 1865 charged with thousands of deaths that took place while he administered a notorious prison camp in the civil war.

Hill Crash Injures Sausalito Woman

Claudia Creek, 24, of Alexander Avenue, was treated for head cuts and multiple bruises Wednesday at Marin General Hospital after the van in which she was a passenger flipped over on a steep hill in Sausalito.

Police said her husband, David L. Creek, 24, was driving north on Third Street when the vehicle lost power and began to slip backwards down the hill. Creek attempted to brake, but the brakes failed and the vehicle rolled. An examination of the van revealed a broken brake cable, police reported.

Budget Cut Hits Marin's Athletes

College of Marin has a new football field and track, but no bleachers and athletes are supplying some of their own equipment.

These points were made last night by Harry J. Pieper, chairman of the Health and Physical Education Department, as he told Marin Junior College District trustees of the effects of budget cuts this year on his department.

GREATER DEMAND

"We have more athletes than ever before," Pieper said. "There is greater demand and less funds. We are asking the kids to supply our needs."

Pieper said he was preparing a proposal for partial completion of the bleachers, 2,000 seats or less, and suggested the funding could be from the community services fund.

Because of budget restrictions the department hasn't been able to obtain adequate supplies for its physical education classes, Pieper said. "Students are being asked to supply more and more of the necessary supplies for this required program."

OWN EQUIPMENT

In the athletic program there have been many cuts in supplies and equipment, he said. "Our athletes are being asked and will continue to be asked to supply more of their own equipment."

Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy expressed concern about athletes playing with inadequate equipment, but Pieper assured her, saying, "I wouldn't put an athlete on the field in gear that wouldn't properly protect him."

Petaluma, Sonoma Triumph

The North Bay I and II Leagues must know a thing or two about playing basketball.

The two leagues' first and second-place teams have the first Top of the Bay Basketball Classic at Sonoma State College all to themselves, and it's not even past the second round yet.

Montgomery of Santa Rosa and Petaluma, one-two in North Bay I, and Cardinal Newman of Santa Rosa and Sonoma, one-two in North Bay II, eliminated all other entrants in the field from championship play yesterday in a stunning display of North Bay power.

Petaluma opened things with a 55-45 win over Del Norte, the Humboldt-Del Norte League champ, and owner of a 21-3 record that must have been piled up in the wilds of Oregon.

DOUBLE OVERTIME

Cardinal Newman followed with a stirring double-overtime win over Campo Lindo, runners-up in the Foothill Athletic League, winning it on center Charley Lumpkins' jumper with one second left.

Sonoma then pulled off a big upset, knocking off Livermore, of the East Bay Athletic League, 84-64, and Montgomery of Santa Rosa wound things up with a 60-52 win over Fort Bragg, the North Coast League champ.

Petaluma started slowly, trailing Del Norte, 15-19, after the opening period but junior forward Joe Rodola, who topped the scoring with 16 points, helped pull the Trojans steadily away, getting nine points in a 17-9 third quarter. Burley Dan Keller had 12 rebounds while Ross Goree managed to score 15 points, despite being burdened by four fouls.

ROMBERG WILD

Dick Romberg, Sonoma's 6-foot-5 center, went wild against Livermore, ripping away for 33 points as the Dragons hit on 52 per cent of their shots. The two teams combined for 54 points in the final quarter, with Sonoma getting 32.

In tonight's action, Petaluma will meet Cardinal Newman at 7 o'clock and Montgomery takes on Sonoma at 9 in a pair of semi-final games. Petaluma holds a 65-61 regular season win over Cardinal Newman, while Montgomery has beaten Sonoma, 53-52.

This afternoon, Del Norte met Campo Olindo at 4 o'clock and Livermore plays Fort Bragg at 5:30.

THINGS LOOKING UP IN SPORTS

Seventeen-year-old Gwen Bachman is even bigger than most boys, standing 6-foot-11 in her stocking feet, with the prospect of making an even seven feet by next year. Gwen, a senior at Englewood High School in Colorado, spends her free time making her own clothes and playing basketball. She hopes to play professional basketball. Some pro clubs have already sought her out. She's pictured in action and walking with one of her shorter contemporaries. (AP Wirephoto)

Venturi Goes To School To Sharpen His Driving

News Item: Ken Venturi seeks to improve his driving.

So what? you ask. Doesn't every golf professional want to sharpen his tee shots, especially a former National Open titlist like Venturi? I mean, if you're not a good driver you'll spend all your time in the rough.

No, no, Bunkie. I mean Venturi wants to improve his driving, like in zoom-zoom, beep-beep, screech driving.

Um, hm, the ex-national links headliner is going to racing drivers' school. He was to be at Sears Point International Raceway this afternoon for some private instruction on the 2.5 mile, 11-turn road circuit and will return tomorrow to take some lessons in the drivers' school sponsored by the Sports Car Club of America. Ken will find out this is one sport where you don't get a Mulligan.

"No, I don't think Ken has any serious plans for competitive racing," said Sears Point vice-president Steve Castoldi. "He just likes to drive and I think he might be considering doing commercial TV work for some of his friends in the automotive field."

Hey, Dig That Crazy Golf Cart

And NO, wise guys, Venturi won't be putt-putting around the raceway in a Caddy. He'll be at the wheel of one of the two original Ford Cobras designed and built by his good friend, Carroll Shelby.

I HEAR THAT the Marin County Athletic League has officially recognized girls' basketball.

Well, that's good, but the next thing you know some of the more rebellious dribbling dollies will be going to federal court demanding that they be permitted to get their hair cut. Either that, or they can defect to the cross country team and stay as sweet as they are.

FOR GOOD, CLEAN family entertainment I recommend tonight's exhibition basketball game between the San Rafael High School Faculty and the barnstorming Harlem Clowns, not to be confused with the Globetrotters, but a group of the same humorous approach to the game.

A Laugh-A-Minute Cage Show

Last Friday the Clowns whipped the Sonoma High Faculty by about 10 points, but who keeps score in a laugh-a-minute show like this? Bring the whole famdamily tonight, 8 o'clock, at SRHS.

JACK HOMEL of Boyes Hot Springs, veteran major league trainer with more than 20 years' service with the Detroit Tigers and a couple of seasons with the Oakland A's, has joined a big winner. Big Jack will help train the world champ N.Y. Mets through the spring training, then move to Mexico, far away from sore arms, knees, etc.

A Damp Giants Opener

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The San Francisco Giants were supposed to bus over to Scottsdale today to play the Chicago Cubs in a spring training exhibition game.

But a Thursday downpour left the chances for a game pretty slim, said Giants' manager Clyde King.

"I just called Scottsdale," a dejected King said Thursday, "and was told the Cubs won't go on the field at all today and that neither club will take batting practice tomorrow there.

"We'll just start playing . . . if we can."

The Giants are scheduled to go to Tucson Saturday to play the Cleveland Indians.

KNEE PAINS

Willie McCovey, the National League's most valuable player last year, wil not make the trip to Tucson, since he was scratched from the lineup for the Chicago game because of recurring knee pains.

The Giants' batting order for the Chicago game had third baseman Tito Fuentes leading off, second baseman Ron Hunt batting second, center fielder Willie Mays hitting third, and right fielder Bobby Bonds batting cleanup.

Left fielder Jim Ray Hart was to bat fifth, followed by catcher Dick Dietz, first baseman Bob Burda, shortstop Hal Lanier and pitcher Mike McCormick.

Among other casualties, outfielders Ken Henderson and Jim Gosger complained of minor ailments.

'Red' Brown To Keep Cage Job

Carl J. "Red" Brown, who earlier in the year had resigned as Drake High School basketball coach, citing a heavy teaching-coaching load and the need to spend more time at home as reasons, will be back on the same job next season.

Drake principal Harold Allison and athletic director George Corson have persuaded Brown, who doubles as top football assistant at the school in addition to his duties as a teacher, to return as basketball coach next season.

HAS AGREED "We have asked Carl to stay for another year and any time thereafter," Allison said this morning. "He has agreed to stay. We like his work very much. We appreciate his handling of the kids he works with. He is definitely going to remain."

Allison said that he and Corson had given some thought to finding a replacement for Brown at the time of his resignation but, "We made no decision.

"We thought we might work from within the school," Allison said. "But we also hoped that we could persuade Carl to stay on."

A's Launch Exhibition Schedule

YUMA, Ariz. (AP)—Oakland's Athletics are opening a 29-game exhibition schedule today with many of their regulars out of play.

Reggie Jackson, outfielder who hit 47 homers and drove in 118 runs last season, has yet to sign a contract.

Marine Reserve duty has called three men to Alameda for the weekend. They are outfielder Rick Monday, outfielder-first baseman Joe Rudi and catcher Dave Duncan.

Dick Green, a second baseman, has signed a contract but has not reached the team yet.

Two others who reported late and still are not in shape to play are third baseman Sal Bando and first baseman Don Mincher.

The A's open their exhibition season against the San Diego Padres.

Santa Clara Nears Title After USF Stuns Pacific

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Santa Clara's Broncos can clinch the West Coast Athletic Conference basketball championship Saturday when they play the University of the Pacific.

Playing a deliberate game, the University of San Francisco Dons upset UOP's Tigers by 59-58 Thursday while the Broncos were breaking out of a tie for the lead by thumping the St. Mary's Gaels 113-73.

That left Santa Clara with an 11-2 league record and the Tigers at 10-3.

If UOP should win Saturday in the last scheduled league game, a playoff is expected on Monday.

USF's upset came in the last 14 seconds on a 20-foot jump shot by Pat Galos—the 6-foot-3 3 sophomore's only basket of the game.

The Dons held a 36-23 halftime lead, but UOP rallied and late in the game held a 58-55 advantage. Then Terry Senn was fouled and threw in two free throws for the Dons. Right after that Galos made his shot.

CROSS HIGH

Pete Cross of USF was the game's high man with 22 points.

Santa Clara, on the shooting of Ralph Ogden, had an easy time with St. Mary's. Ogden hit 13 straight baskets in the second half and finished with 33 points.

Dennis Awtrey collected 26 points for the winners.

In the only other league game, Loyola came from behind and upended Nevada Reno 87-80.

Besides the Santa Clara UOP game on Saturday, there will be three other league games. USF plays St. Mary's at Richmond, Loyola plays at Nevada Las Vegas and Pepperdine is at Nevada Reno.

By AL GIDDINGS

A Collection Of Notes From Fields And Streams

Here's a report on a variety of items plus answers to some questions I've received during the past month:

In 1969 there were 111,225 salmon taken by Bay Area party boat anglers as compared with 126,969 in 1968.

The 1969 striped bass catch was 20,087 compared to 21,544 the previous year.

The sturgeon catch last year was 1,905, up from the 1,653 in 1968.

During January of this year the party boats caught 266 sturgeon in the Bay Area and 133 stripers.

BOB WILSON of Woodacre took his seventh straight sturgeon last Sunday off China Camp.

And Bob Keefer, fishing with Ernest Eddings of Buck's Landing at Santa Venetia, had a fish take his rod over the side. Not to be outdone by any old fish, Keefer jumped over the side and retrieved it just as it started to sink. Then, as the tide started pulling Keefer away from the boat (or maybe the fish was towing him), Eddings had to pull anchor and fish his buddy out of the bay. It all proved worthwhile because Keefer had a 16½-pound striper at the end of that line.

Anyway, that's the way it was reported to me. Enough of these fishy facts.

Joe Mello of Santa Venetia caught his first bass of the year on Monday.

THE FINAL bear kill for the entire state in 1969 was 871 compared with 638 in 1968. Siskiyou County with 146, Shasta with 123 and Trinity with 121 were the leaders. The Department of Fish and Game estimated bear tag sales at 33,800. That's about 1 bear for every 40 hunters.

THE 1970 census of California antelope was 2,983 animals, highest count recorded since the present census system began in 1953. Some 1,525 hunters have bagged 1,051 antelope during the past six years on controlled hunts.

CALIFORNIA'S big horn sheep population is now estimated at 3,900. Wildlife biologists believe it may be possible to extend the animals' range by reintroducing big horns into their former ranges in northeastern California.

THERE WERE 469 trapping licenses sold for the 1968-69 trapping season. Revenue received by trappers from the sale of furs amounted to $63,986. The catch of 45,215 muskrats represented 90 per cent of the catch. The average price per pelt was 76 cents. Beaver, bobcats, mink and raccoons made up the bulk of the remainder of the catch.

PRELIMINARY DEER tag returns indicate a seven per cent drop in the regular 1969 buck kill, although the kill in Marin County showed a substantial gain. Hans Stern of Santa Venetia recently sent me a snapshot of a whopping three-point mule deer he took this year near Burney, Calif.

THE 1970 annual winter waterfowl survey has shown a 53 per cent increase over a year ago, and the highest winter duck population in a decade. The census tallied 4,823,000 ducks, nearly half of them sprig.

Also noted in the overall count were 773,000 geese.

Losses from botulism occurring in the Tulare Lake-Kern River-Delta areas and in the central valleys totalled 104,210 birds.

In Canada, Ducks Unlimited crews during 1969 completed 40 new project programs, insuring for the future another 120,000 acres of prime waterfowl breeding habitat.

TWENTY - EIGHT wild turkeys from Texas were released in Lake and Mendocino counties last month. The birds were procured from Texas by the Fish and Game Department as part of a continuing program to establish the wild turkey in areas of California where the habitat is suitable.

BOTH THE Izaak Walton League and the Marin Conservation League are having membership drives. Both groups have outstanding records in conservation work. Now's the time to get involved.

AN ALL-TIME low of 11 fatal hunting accidents was reported in California last year. There were 82 non-fatal accidents. It looks as though the hunter safey program is paying off. Even at that, 14 of the accidents were by handguns, which raises a strong suspicion that the old quick draw game was involved.

A LETTER from Charlotte Proctor of Corte Madera asks about the carp in Phoenix Lake. Answer: They were planted there by a misinformed conservationist. And they wont do the trout any good! The lake may have to be eventually chemically treated to kill off these unwanted fish.

A LETTER from Mr. and Mrs. Ray Froelich of San Rafael asks of Nicasio Lake: Did the Department of Fish and Game net the lake on Dec. 16, getting 90 pounds of carp, a few bluegills and no black bass?

Answer: Yes, but it was felt the bass were in the deeper waters and couldn't be taken by net.

THE SPORTING GENTRY

Little Marilyn A Top Bowler

By RALPH CHATOIAN

When bowlers start arguing about who's the best woman bowler in Marin County, the name of Marilyn Epidendio is bound to pop up.

A former secretary of the Marin County Woman's Bowling Association, Mrs. Epidendio, mother of three, has a blue book average of 180 but is about two pins behind that so far this year.

She bowls in two leagues at Greenbrae Lanes, both of them with her husband, Rich, owner of Rich's Readimix Concrete in Greenbrae. His "book" average is identical to hers, 180.

"He's averaging about 188 now," said Marilyn. "I used to beat him but now he's better than me," she admitted with a smile. "In the last three or four years he has really gotten interested in bowling. He's bowling in four leagues this year."

REGULAR LEAGUES

Rich and Marilyn have been bowling for 11 years in regular leagues, ever since Greenbrae Lanes opened. "Oh, I had bowled at Marin Bowl when it was there (where Stan's for Sports, San Rafael, is now located), but just for fun, no leagues," Marilyn said.

Mrs. Epidendio, 38, was born in New York but spent most of her life in California. Rich, on the other hand, is a Larkspur native. Their meeting was in true Hollywood movie fashion, she a watiress in a Larkspur coffee shop and he a truck driver (he owned his own lumber hauling business). They were married 20 years ago.

He's had the concrete business for the past six years.

AN HONOR

"I remember when I used to go to Marin Bowl a long time ago," Marilyn said, "and they used to let me keep score. Boy, I really thought that was an honor."

Bowling has been a way of life for Mrs. Epidendio. "Almost all our friends now are from bowling," she said, admitting she is not really a sports fan or golfer. It's just bowling.

She rolls a 15-pound, 2-ounce ball, which is heavier than most women roll, although she is only 5-foot-4½ and a size 9. She started with a 10-pound ball and worked up to the heavier ball.

"I tried using a 16-pound ball (men's size) but it was too much. It just wore me out," she said.

HIGHEST SCORES

The highest game she ever rolled was a 276 at Greenbrae Lanes in 1965. Her highest series is a 660 rolled at Country Club Bowl, San Rafael, in 1967.

Among her bowling trophies are some for winning the scratch all-events title in the 1966 MCWBA City Tournament. She has also been on the winning team twice in that tournament.

The Epidendios, who now live in San Rafael, have two daughters, Lynn, 17, and Janice, 16, both students at Terra Linda High School, and a son, Richard, 12, a student at Santa Venetia Junior High.

And if you can't find the Epidendios at home, try one of the bowling alleys. On Mondays they bowl in the Groggy Fours League and on Tuesdays in the Mixed Mates, both at Greenbrae. Then on Thursday nights Rich bowls in scratch league at Greenbrae and on Fridays in a travel league.

Now that's a lot of bowling.

Italian Government Bars 747s In Alitalia Pitch

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Italian Government has barred the huge new Boeing 747 jumbo jet from Rome in a move some say is designed to press the United States into authorizing more U.S. routes for Italy's airline Alitalia.

Officially, Italy says the world's largest commercial jet craft must stay out of the country because Rome's new airport cannot handle the plane.

But airline industry observers here suspect the Italians are using the airport-preparedness issue as a pretext to:

—Make sure Pan American World Airways, which already operates the 747 between New York and Paris, does not start New York-Rome 747 service before Alitalia does.

—Induce the U.S. to grant concessions that could lead to re-establishment of an air transport agreement between the two countries.

Pan Am, which also flies a 362-passenger 747 between New York and London, had planned to operate the big plane daily from New York to Paris to Rome, and back by the same route.

But as a result of Italy's exclusion policy, Pan Am has had to leave the $23 million 747 at the Paris airport after its arrival each morning, and transfer Rome-bound passengers to a smaller Boeing 707 jet.

Each afternoon the 707 comes back from Rome with passengers to be transferred into the waiting 747 for the flight to the United States.

Beirut Fears New Israeli Drive Coming

BEIRUT (AP) — Israeli charges of increased guerrilla activity across the Lebanese border have raised fears in the Middle East's would-be neutral that Israel is planning another major strike into Lebanon, possibly the biggest yet.

After two months of calm along the border, Palestinian guerrillas recently reported they have resumed raids into northern Israel.

Government leaders in Tel Aviv charged the raids came from Lebanon and threatened counteraction to keep the border quiet. The last big Israeli raid against Lebanon was in December 1968 when commandos destroyed most of the country's commercial air fleet.

ISRAELI THREAT

One Beirut newspaper reported Israel threatened to conduct a "scorched earth" campaign six miles into Lebanon along lengthy portions of the 80-mile border. The paper said nothing would be left standing after the strike.

The Lebanese cabinet met Wednesday night and rejected the Israeli claims of increased guerrilla activity and the reported threats of a retaliatory strike.

Lebanon's official protestations of innocence were supported by the leading guerrilla group, Al Fatah. A spokesman acknowledged that there had been an increase in guerrilla activity but said Lebanon was being used only as a corridor. He denied Al Fatah had any bases in south Lebanon.

"Some operations come from our cells in northern Israel, others from Syria and even Jordan," he said. "Our men use Lebanon as a corridor, not a staging base."

CAIRO PACT

Such operations, he added, are in accordance with the agreement reached in Cairo last November between the guerrillas and the Lebanese government on guerrilla activity in Lebanon.

"We have heard nothing from the government asking us to stop these operations," the spokesman said.

Lebanese generally were gloomy about their exposed position in the middle.

Israel Claims Arab Amphibious Raid Foiled; Beirut Is Warned

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel says it thwarted an Arab amphibious strike tonight with a raid across the Dead Sea in which three Arabs were killed and three were captured.

There also was fighting on the Lebanese border Thursday night where guerrillas have stepped up their activtiy in recent weeks, prompting Israeli warnings to the Lebanese. One Israeli soldier was killed and two were wounded.

An Israeli spokesman said interrogation of the Arab guerrillas captured in the Dead Sea raid Thursday disclosed 17 guerrillas were to "come across in two rubber boats with 130mm. Katyusha rockets and special carriers of the kind used in the rocket attack on Jerusalem last August."

The spokesman said the guerrillas apparently planned to set up a base in the Hebron Hills south of the Israeli capital.

Last Aug. 26, guerrillas fired three rockets at a Jerusalem hotel, but no one was injured. Se-

In Amman, the Palestine Armed Struggle Command confirmed the raid, saying two Israeli helicopters landed commandos who attacked a number of Al Fatah guerrillas.

The Israeli spokesman did not mention the helicopters.

He said the Israelis attacked the base near the water's edge about 10 a.m. and returned to Israeli territory at dusk. He added there were no Israeli casualties.

The commandos captured six Katyusha rocket launchers, an undisclosed number of the rockets, which weigh 130 pounds each, and other supplies, including machine guns, the spokesman said.

The raid was the second such in a month.

The increase in violence on the Lebanese border is causing concern in both Tel Aviv and Beirut.

The border had been calm for several months, but the Palestinians confirmed they have resumed their raids into Israel.

On the Egyptian front, Israeli planes crossed the Suez Canal today and attacked a radar station north of Dumiat in the Nile Delta about 30 miles west of Port Said, the Israeli command announced.

A spokesman said all the Israeli jets returned safely.

It was the 14th Israeli air raid deep into Egypt this year, but this time the attack was at least 80 miles north of Cairo.

In Cairo, the semiofficial Egyptian newspaper Al Ahram said today that Secretary of State William P. Rogers during his African trip last month conveyed a message to Cairo "which in the view of many African leaders contained an ultimatum ta the Arabs."

Editor Hassanein Heikal, a confidant of President Gamal Abdel Nasser, said Rogers warned that "unless the (Middle East) problem is solved peacefully this year, such a solution would become impossible later."

The first school in Arkansas was established at Dwight Mission, near the present Russellville, in 1820.

Cult Chief, Girl Visit in Jail

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The girl authorities say supplied the basis of charges against Charles Manson in the killing of actress Sharon Tate and six others has had an apparently happy reunion with the hippie-type cult leader in jail.

Susan Denise Atkins, 21, accused in the slayings along with Manson and four other members of his nomadic "family," seemed exuberant after their meeting Thursday.

Asked by newsmen whether he had told her to change the story she related to the grand jury which indicted them, she replied:

"Charley doesn't give orders, Charley doesn't command."

Miss Atkins' attorney, Richard Caballero, described the reunion as "a joyous one." Both burst into laughter when their eyes met for the first time in five months, Caballero related.

The jail meeting was permitted because Manson, as his own attorney, has the right to interview prospective witnesses.
